Health official thinks so

Women's lib: has it brought more lice, fleas, roaches?

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Women's liberation is largely to blame for the reported proliferation of lice, fleas and cockroaches in Belgian homes today, a Ministry of Health official said today.

There have been increasingly frequent reports from school supervisors that many of their pupils were infested with fleas, and swimming pool managers are complaining that cockroaches are back in force.

"I hardly dare say so, but the fault can largely be attributed to women's liberation," Dr. Georges Claus, director of social services for the ministry, told the newspaper Het Laatste Nieuws.

"Man and wife now more often go to work together in the morning and are often too tired to start cleaning up the house when they get back in the evening. They watch TV and then go to bed. In many cases, cleaning up is limited to dusting on Saturday morning if the car does not come first."

Claus gave other reasons for the spread of the unwanted insects: Because of long hair, widespread central heating, the popularity of wall-to-wall carpeting and, above all, the fact that families now live much closer to one another than they used to, so the insects don't have to go far to prey on new victims.

"It wouldn't be any problem if it were possible to take action everywhere at the same time, but this is just not possible for obvious reasons," Claus said.

The best way to get rid of the vermin is to treat them with kerosene, he said. But kerosene is hard to find in Belgium, and this kind of treatment can only be used in the open air.

Clocks move 'ahead' Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight Savings Time begins Sunday. Remember, it's spring ahead, fall back.

If you like to stroll, swat a tennis ball or water the garden in the evening, then come Sunday you'll have an extra hour of light to indulge in all your favorite pastimes. But if you're a farmer or like to jog before breakfast — well, sorry.

Either way, clocks move forward Sunday one hour for the six months of Daylight Saving Time (DST) from 2 a.m. Sunday to 2 a.m. Oct. 31. And, if you get confused on which direction to move the hands, just remember the saying, "Spring ahead, fall back."

The extra hour may come in handy for Congress as it grapples with proposals to change the system of six months of DST and six months of standard time.

Earlier this year, the Senate passed a bill to provide seven months of DST this year and next, from mid-March until mid-October. But inaction by the House Commerce Committee kept it from taking effect in time for the spring.

Secretary of Commerce urges Ontario as World's Fair site

By ERIC RUFF
PB Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of Commerce, Elliott Richardson today recommended Ontario as this nation's choice for the location of a 1981 world's fair.

In making the recommendation, Richardson asked the U. S. delegate to the Bureau of International Expositions to travel to Paris, France, and formally request the BIE to reserve a date for the world's event.

Richardson said the request would be made in Paris on April 28.

Recently a special government survey team visited Ontario to gather on-site information. That team returned to Washington and recommended California for the Exposition site — doing so after considering a similar proposal for a world's fair in Knoxville, Tenn.

"In its recommendation, the evaluation team noted (the Ontario proposal) appears to be a viable exposition plan with broad-based community support," said Richardson in a prepared statement.

"We believe that this category of expositions would have a great impact on our national interest and has outstanding potential for attracting foreign and domestic exhibit participation, as well as tourists," the secretary added.

The American BIE delegate and a representative from Ontario will meet with BIE officials to make the request, according to a commerce spokesman here.

It will then be up to BIE to reserve a date, if the proposal is approved. Afterwards, the President's approval for federal recognition of the event will be needed, paving the way for official registration at BIE headquarters.

The application, submitted by the Expo '81 Corp., is the first of its kind in the United States since 1939.

Should the "all systems go" signal finally come, the Exposition would be located on the 700-acre site of the Ontario Motor Speedway. Under present plans, the exposition would last six months.

Regarding other nations seeking the exposition, Richardson stated: "Based on recent BIE meetings, it is not expected that any other countries will compete for the (1981) date."

The Department of Commerce decision drew favorable reaction from Ontario officials.

"It is good news and encouraging that the Ontario Motor Speedway had been selected," said City Manager Roger Hughbanks. "We believe this will be a shot in the arm regarding local economy."

Berger Nielsen, manager of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, added such a selection would not only have good impact on Ontario, but the entire valley.

"It will greatly speed up growth of the Ontario International Airport. We are pleased with the decision."

Richard Pittenger, president of Expo '81, and Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who formed the Expo '81 Committee, weren't immediateiy available for comment.

TICKETS TO NEW YORK

Nurses, pharmacists to join county strike?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A strike by interns and residents at county hospitals entered its third day today with threats that nurses and pharmacists may also go out — and threats that strikers may be fired.

Talks between dissident doctors and county officials with a state mediator ran into Thursday night with some progress reported.

But county officials remained firm in their demand that the strikers return to work before full-scale negotiations resumed. And county authorities have said anyone staying out longer than three days faced firing.

Doctors said they will not insist on a final agreement, but want what one striker called "substantial evidence of good faith from the county" in the strike over patient care and pay.

County health officials said 421 of the total of 1,200 interns and residents stayed off work Thursday, with the impact felt most at County-USC Medical Center, Martin Luther King Jr. General Hospital and Harbor General, the county's three largest hospitals.

"There has been some diversion of patients and a lot less treatment in the emergency room, but no one is suffering," said Dr. Sol Bernstein, medical director at County-USC.

Out-patient clinics and most elective surgeries have been canceled at Harbor General and King, officials said.

While the doctors' walkout continued, there were reports pharmacists might also go out.

And negotiations involving 2,640 nurses reached an impasse late Thursday. Although both sides said they would enter mediation as soon as possible, there were reports of possible wildcat strikes.

Ford answers Reagan over Hanoi relations

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — President Ford said today there is no prospect the United States will extend diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam or normalize relations with that country. Ford appeared to contradict an earlier statement by his secretary of state.

"I never said that we were going to normalize relations or recognize the North Vietnamese ...," Ford told Indiana broadcasters during a campaign news conference. "We're not committed; as far as I can see there's no prospect of it; and there's nothing that would convince me otherwise."

The President was responding to criticism from Ronald Reagan, his Republican presidential challenger, who has decried what he considers U.S. moves toward warming up to North Vietnam. It was Ford's second such response. He insisted during a television interview Thursday that "under no circumstances do we contemplate recognizing Hanoi."

But today Ford went farther, apparently closing the door against any prospect of normalizing relations with Hanoi, which his deputy press secretary has called a matter apart from diplomatic recognition. The press secretary has acknowledged a recent U.S. overture to Hanoi.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said on March 26 that the United States is "in principle prepared to normalize relations with Hanoi." The North Vietnamese gave a "chilly" response to the overture, U.S. officials said Monday.

In his television interview, Ford accused Reagan of "irresponsibility" and of making "a totally false allegation" that the United States planned to recognize North Vietnam.

Nonetheless, Ford said today he would consider Reagan among 12 or 15 others to be potential candidates for the vice presidency.

Mercy flight's assured for ailing Pomona girl

By PHYLLIS CANNON
PB Staff Writer

Fifteen-year-old Kimberly Ayers, a Pomona girl hospitalized in Desert Hot Springs, will be flown to New York next Wednesday for brain surgery which, it is hoped, will correct a degenerative muscular disease and save her life.

The flight, the surgery and the hospitalization in New York is being made possible by literally hundreds of people who read of Kim's plight and in three months' time contributed $17,000 to the Kimberly Ayers Benefit Fund.

Her story was told in a Progress Bulletin article last Jan. 21. Contributions began to arrive at the hospital almost immediately. According to comptroller Ruth Devine, who said "response has been just terrific."

"People have opened their hearts and their pocketbooks and sent whatever they could afford," she said.

Members of the Pomona Firemen's Association, who originally donated $75 into the benefit fund, stepped forward with another $876 to purchase airline tickets for Kimberly and her mother, Mrs. Faye Barnes of Pomona.

They are scheduled to fly out of Los Angeles International Airport on American Airlines at 8:45 a.m. next Wednesday. Kimberly will be checked by Dr. I. S. Cooper, a brain surgeon, at St. Barnabas Hospital in Bronx, N.Y. If surgery can be performed, it will be undertaken next Thursday or Friday, according to Mrs. Devine.

A group of young people from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Pomona area, headed by Patti Thomas of La Verne, conducted a 36-hour wake-a-thon and raised $2,670.92 which they contributed to the benefit fund.

"A person who wishes to remain anonymous contributed a large sum," said Mrs. Devine. "All of this is making it possible for a young girl who lies strapped on a gurney or in her bed to undergo delicate brain surgery which may enable her to walk again. Our prayers, good luck and good wishes go with Kim."

Mrs. Barnes was unemployed last January, when she made a public appeal for funds to help Kim after doctors at the Angel View Crippled Children's Hospital in Desert Hot Springs said her condition was worsening.

Since that time, Mrs. Barnes has found employment. She is on leave to accompany Kim to New York.

Mrs. Barnes said Kim, born in Pomona on Aug. 9, 1960, was a fourth grader at Washington Elementary School when she became ill. She initially was diagnosed as being mentally ill and spent seven months at Camarillo State Hospital before a pediatrician diagnosed dystonia, described as overactive motor control which causes the body to become rigid.

Kim was moved from Camarillo to Los Angeles, where one surgery was performed. Mrs. Barnes said that surgery did not correct Kim's condition and afterward, Kim lost her powers of speech.

Kim has been a patient at Angel View since 1970.

Her father, Gilvin Ayers of Chino, is an employe of the FMC sweeper plant in Pomona. When his fellow workers learned of Kim's need, they diverted their charitable deductions from United Crusade into her benefit fund. That amounted to $4,227. The firm's corporate United Crusade pledge of $1,000 also was diverted into the fund.

Fear 11 dead in helicopter crash at sea

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A helicopter carrying 11 persons to an oil rig over the Louisiana coast is believed to have crashed into the Gulf of Mexico today, pilots of two other helicopters said.

Two other helicopters reached the scene about 40 miles offshore due south of Cameron and reported sighting wreckage and what appeared to be three bodies, a spokesman for Gulf Oil said.

The rig is owned by Dolphin International of Houston and leased to Gulf Oil, Gulf spokesman Jim Gatten said.

Petroleum Helicopter dispatchers monitoring the radio heard a "loud noise" about 8:08 a.m. CST, he said. The other two helicopters arrived at the scene within 25 minutes.

VW approves plant in U.S.

WOLFSBURG, West Germany (AP) — Wolkswagen's supervisory board today unanimously approved a project for assembling cars in the United States to defend and enhance the company's dwindling share of the vital American market. No site was announced immediately.

Arthur Railton, vice president in charge of corporate relations for Volkswagen of America, said three sites were still under active consideration. The favorite is Brook Park, Ohio, outside Cleveland. The other two are New Stanton, Pa., and Columbus, Ohio.

Selection of the site is the responsibility of a second VW board called the management board, rather than the supervisory board. When the management board would announce its decision was not known.

Today's decision by the supervisory board, which had been widely predicted, was announced after a 5½-hour meeting of the 21 members who oversee VW's top management.

Soliah admits love for Patty, denies role in bank holdup

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "I lived with her. I slept with her. We had a close relationship," Steven Soliah testified about Patricia Hearst. "We felt very close to each other."

But the young housepainter, who became the fugitive heiress' underground lover, told a jury he did not join in the terrorist Sacramento bank robbery for which he is standing trial and never questioned Miss Hearst about it.

"I had learned not to ask questions," Soliah said at one point. "I didn't feel I needed to know."

He was curious when Miss Hearst stored cash in the refrigerator at one of their hideouts, he said. But he didn't press her on where she got the money.

"I learned from asking questions of Bill and Emily Harris and Patty before that they seemed to get uptight. So I didn't ask anymore," Soliah said.

The blond-haired Soliah, neatly attired in a pale blue suit and vest, portrayed himself as a softhearted man touched by Miss Hearst's plight who was unwittingly drawn into the radical intrigue of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

His fingerprints were found on evidence seized in SLA hideouts, and Soliah told his love story to explain how he was connected to the SLA and Miss Hearst.

"I felt sorry for her at that time," he said. "I felt close to her. I wanted to help her. She seemed kind of confused."

In testimony which lasted a full day, Soliah gave the first public details of Miss Hearst's mysterious "missing year" in the underground which she refused to discuss at her own San Francisco bank robbery trial.

He placed her in Sacramento for most of that year — including the time of the April 21, 1975 robbery — and said she was determined not to be captured.

"She told me she hated her parents, that she'd been abandoned by them and didn't want to go back to them," he said of the heiress. "...She said she wanted to stay in Sacramento, stay underground. She didn't want to go home."

At her own trial for a separate San Francisco bank robbery, Miss Hearst said she was an SLA captive, too terrified of the Harrises to escape. Soliah confirmed that Miss Hearst "had a hard time getting along" with the Harrises.

The 22-year-old Miss Hearst was convicted of the San Francisco bank robbery Mar. 20.

As jurors listened raptly, Soliah recounted the love affair which led to his arrest and indictment on federal bank robbery charges.

Four robbers were in the bank, but Soliah is the only person accused in the $15,247 SLA-linked Sacramento robbery in which a woman was shotgunned to death a year ago.

But it was much earlier — in June, 1974 — that he first saw Miss Hearst, then America's most wanted fugitive.

She arrived with the Harrises at a Berkeley apartment, and Soliah was introduced by his sister, Kathy, and her boyfriend, James Kilgore, who had contact with the trio. Kilgore and Kathy Soliah vanished after Miss Hearst's arrest last September.

"They came in," Soliah recalled. "They were carrying suitcases and bags. They took weapons out of the bags and propped them against the walls. They walked around looking out the windows of the apartment. They seemed extremely nervous."

Although he thought his sister's contact with the group was "crazy," Soliah admitted he wanted to meet the celebrity fugitives.

INGMAR BERGMAN

Film director flees Sweden in tax dispute

PARIS (AP) — Film director Ingmar Bergman, who exiled himself from his native Sweden because of his troubles with the tax collector, will fly to New York Sunday to talk about making his headquarters in the United States, a film industry source reported today.

The informant said Bergman planned to see producer Dino DeLaurentiis in New York and then would go to Hollywood to talk to his American agent, Paul Cohner. Bergman, 58, is staying in a Paris hotel.

Other sources said the director is also considering making his headquarters in France or Italy.

Leaders of the Swedish theater world expressed sympathy with Bergman, and Bertil Bokstedt, manager of the Royal Opera, said his decision was an "unprecedented catastrophe for the cultural life of Sweden."

Bergman was arrested during a theater rehearsal Jan. 30 and was charged with tax fraud in connection with $750,000 from a Swiss company he owned. The charges were dropped, but the Socialist government is going ahead with claims for taxes on the money.

Bergman, in a letter to the newspaper Expressen, announced Thursday that he could no longer live and work in Sweden. He said his treatment by the tax authorities made him realize that "anybody in this country, any time and in any way, can be attacked and humiliated by a special kind of bureacracy that grows like a galloping cancer."

Hughes left a will, ex-secretary says

PALM SPRINGS (AP) — A former secretary to Howard Hughes says the industrialist left a valid will to his $2 billion estate, but some of his empire's leaders don't want it found because they "would be caught with their hands in the till."

In a copyrighted story printed Thursday by the Palm Springs Desert Sun, Eleanor Rohrbeck, 61, said Hughes drew up a will in 1949 and signed a supplement to the document in 1951. She said the will probably can be found in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Rohrbeck, interviewed at her modest apartment here, said the will named a friend of Hughes' father as chief executor for the estate, but identified the executor only as "Uncle Frank" and said he is dead.

"No one individual will get a dime," from the Hughes estate, the executor told Mrs. Rohrbeck, who commented that, "The milk of human kindness was not known to flow through the veins of Howard Hughes."

She told a Sun reporter that as the industrialist's night secretary she typed a 1951 amendment to the will and handed it to a Hughes empire executive whom she refused to identify.

Mrs. Rohrbeck said she worked for Hughes from 1943 to 1958. Noah Dietrich, former Hughes chief executive, confirmed her employment.

The woman said Hughes officials flew her to Los Angeles on Tuesday, where she told them all she knew about the will. Hughes officials have been searching for such a document without success since the billionaire died April 5.

"Hughes once told me that 'every SOB has his hands in my pockets,'" she said. "He believed that when he died, some would be caught with their hands in the till. This is why some of the self-appointed crowned heads don't want the will found."

She said she told Hughes officials Tuesday that "I had the codicil (supplement) in my hot little hands. It was signed and I gave it to one of the crowned heads. The will was a legal, live will."

Mrs. Rohrbeck said she believes the document exists, "probably somewhere in Los Angeles."

She told the Sun that Hughes' death was no surprise, adding:

"We all knew and he knew that he suffered from a medical-mental problem that led to his eccentric behavior and his self-imposed exile." She declined to elaborate.

Mrs. Rohrbeck, who has lived in Palm Springs since 1964, described her work for Hughes as unglamorous.

"I was his night secretary," she said. "During the day his personal secretary was Nadine Henley. Nadine was supposed to get a 24-hour notice before being called in. I got a 20-minute notice.

"Let me tell you it was no glamor position. Many nights I would get a phone call from the boys in the back room to be at such-and-such a place, so I had to drop everything and go. And for that I got a peon's wages."

Split California into 3 states?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The dean of the California Legislature says the state should be divided up into three states.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, had legislation on file Thursday aimed at making a single state out of all of California north of the crest of the Tehachapi Mountains, north of Los Angeles.

The second state would consist of the three southermost counties of San Diego, Riverside and Imperial.

The third would be the Los Angeles area in between.

Says land values hurt

L.A. solon wants to sue quake predicter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — City Councilman Louis R. Nowell says a prediction of a major earthquake within a year will irreparably harm property values in the San Fernando Valley district he represents, and suit should be filed aginst the scientist who made the forecast.

Nowell, whose district was hit hard by the 1971 Sylmar quake, asked Thursday for the council to have the city attorney file legal action against Dr. James H. Whitcomb and California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

Nowell's motion was sent to the finance committee for study.

Whitcomb predicted Tuesday a major earthquake centered in the the San Fernando Valley could occur within 12 months.

"It is a cause of concern when one prediction, which is admittedly imprecise, is released to the media prior to review by the duly constituted governmental agencies responsible for its review," said Nowell.

Whitcomb has said the public shouldn't panic or move out of the area and said he would not be afraid to live near the projected quake zone himself.

ABC gets Barbara

BARBARA WALTERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara Walters, star of the "Today" show, says she is ending her long association with NBC to coanchor ABC's evening news because "they made me an offer I couldn't refuse."

The ABC offer, which neither the network nor Miss Walters would disclose, reportedly was $1 million a year for five years.

But an NBC spokesman said Thursday that was only "the tip of the iceberg." NBC dropped out of the bidding, he said, because Miss Walters' agent was "dickering for ... a multimillion-dollar specials deal involving her own production company which would be formed to produce specials."

Totie Fields loses leg

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedienne Totie Fields is expected to remain hospitalized for about 10 days after surgery to amputate her left leg above the knee.

Doctors removed her leg after concluding that vascular surgery performed earlier to repair damage from a phlebitis condition had been unsuccessful.

The operation at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital was performed Wednesday and the 46-year-old comedienne, a longtime diabetic, was listed in satisfactory condition Thursday night.

Stepin Fetchit has stroke

CHICAGO (AP) — Comedian Stepin Fetchit was reported in fair condition at Michael Reese Hospital today after suffering what was described as a stroke.

Fetchit, 84, whose real name is Lincoln Perry, was the first black motion picture star and reportedly earned $2 million during the 1930s.

A friend of Fetchit's said the comedian was attempting to arrange for production of a television documentary on his career when he suffered the stroke Wednesday.

Wilson to be knighted

LONDON (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will be entitled to call himself Sir Harold, beginning today.

Buckingham Palace announced Thursday that the 60-year-old Wilson is being made a Knight of the Garter, Britain's highest order of chivalry.

Wilson, a Laborite, resigned April 5 after serving longer as prime minister — a total of eight years — than any other peacetime British leader in this century. He and the Duke of Grafton, 57, are to be installed in the exclusive 24-member order in a 600-year-old ritual June 14 at Windsor Castle.

Kissinger off for Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger departed today on a two-week trip to Africa with "an attitude of good will, an open mind and some concrete objectives" about achieving black majority rule in southern Africa.

After a stopover in London to confer with special U.S. envoy L. Dean Brown about the crisis in Lebanon and to meet Anthony Crosland, the new British foreign secretary, Kissinger will head for Kenya, the first of seven countries on his itinerary.

His other stops are Tanzania, Zambia, where he will confer with black leaders from Rhodesia, Zaire, Ghana, Liberia and Senegal. He will wind up in Nairobi to head the U.S. delegation at the U.N. conference on trade and development.

Asked at Andrews Air Force Base if the United States will try to match Soviet efforts in Africa, Kissinger said, "We are not in Africa to match Soviet efforts. We are in Africa for our own purposes. And I will indicate what our puposes are and what specific steps we're prepared to take."

Once a proponent of a goslow policy on the black-white issue, Kissinger emphasized at a news conference Thursday and in other recent statements that the United States supports the political aspirations of the black majorities in white-ruled Rhodesia and South Africa.

He has dismissed any thought of helping to create "a puppet state" in Rhodesia, saying that was beyond U.S. capabilities and intentions, and said it "remains to be seen" whether the Rhodesian problem can be solved peacefully.

Kissinger said his meeting in Zambia with leaders of the African National Council — ANC — will take place next Monday or Tuesday.

However, the most important leader of the ANC, Bishop Abel Muzorewa, has said he will not meet with Kissinger.

Muzorewa, whose faction of the ANC is fighting an as yet small-scale guerrila war against the white majority in Rhodesia, accused Kissinger of being "against our war of liberation."

7th murder puts fear into town

HILL CITY, Kan. (AP) — Fear and uncertainty gripped this northwest Kansas community today as local authorities and Kansas Bureau of Investigation agents investigated the area's seventh unsolved murder in 18 months.

The battered, partly nude body of Linda Colleen Leebrick, an attractive 23-year-old art teacher at Hill City High School, was discovered Thursday morning in woods along the bank of the Solomon River a mile east of here.

An autopsy showed that Miss Leebrick, who had been missing since Wednesday, died of a fractured skull, according to the man who performed the examination, Dr. William Halling of Hays.

Further results of the autopsy were to be released today by the KBI and Graham County authorities.

Bloody tree limbs were discovered near the body, which was nude from the waist up and covered by leaves. Automobile tire tracks in the area were photographed for use as evidence.

The slaying of Miss Leebrick, who was reported missing after a fellow teacher found the door to her apartment smashed in, follows the deaths of two women and a small boy in January 1975 and the slayings of three children here in the summer of 1974.

None of the deaths have been solved, but law enforcement authorities have been reluctant to indicate the three incidents may be connected.

"The only thing they have in common at this point is that they all happened in this area," commented Bob Clester, KBI agent from Great Bend.

Footprints lead to arrest of 3

Footprints leading from the Upland Building and Block Co. to a home on Bowen Street led to the arrest of three juveniles for investigation of burglary in Upland Thursday.

Police said employes of the company at 1337 Bowen St. reported the burglary about 6:30 a.m.

Officer Curtis Smalling said he found several sets of well-formed footprints around the bottom of a broken window where the burglars had gained entrance. With assistance from other officers Smalling followed the footprints in the sand to the home nearby where the three youths were arrested.

Police said they found an intercom taken in the burglary underneath a shed behind the residence. Police said that two of the youths, both 15 from Upland, were arrested for burglary and turned over to juvenile authorities at juvenile hall. The third youth, 17, was arrested for receiving stolen property and released to his parents pending disposition from juvenile authorities.

Officers said that two calculators, in addition to the intercom, were taken from the business.

2 Held in burglary

Two Ontario men were booked in West End Jail this morning for investigation of burglary after they were seen running from a residence at 326 Belmont St., ONTARIO, with two television sets wrapped in a blanket.

Police said the two men, Jose Joseph Soto, 18, of 318 E. California St., and David Garcia Casterjon, 20, of 121 E. Francis St., were arrested after a short foot chase by police detectives Roger Remlinger and Corbett Macy.

Remlinger said this morning that a resident near the Belmont Street home noticed the two men running down the street with the blankets and television sets about 11:30 a.m. Remlinger and Macy, in the area at the time, arrived within minutes and spotted the men running from the area.

Later police discovered that the television sets were taken from the home owned by Jennie Gomez, 37. The burglars gained entrance to the home by forcing a front window.

Remlinger said that Soto had a foot-long bayonet in his possession.

Parking lot holdup

A man and woman were robbed on the parking lot of the Castaways restaurant in Pomona Thursday night, police reported.

Police said they were confronted by two armed men on the parking lot of the restaurant located at 1600 Ganesha Blvd. in the hills above the San Bernardino Freeway. One of the men was armed with a rifle and the other a knife. After robbing the victims, the men fled to the freeway in a small, red sedan.

The man with the rifle was described as black, 6 feet 3 wearing a light-tan jacket, dark trousers and a "floppy" hat.

Thief hides, waits

A thief apparently remained inside the Great Western Savings and Loan Association building at 300 Pomona Mall West in Pomona and removed a calculator and stereo recording equipment from an office, police reported.

The calculator and recorder were taken from the office of the All Cities Engineering Co. The total loss was set at $4,008.

Traffic fines, bail by mail up to Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Motorists cited for a traffic violation will be able to pay bail and fines by mail if Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. signs legislation now on his desk.

The bill by Sen. David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, won final legislative passage Thursday on a 27-0 Senate vote.

The bill is SB 189.

Feds give blessing to Diamond Lane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Federal transportation officials have given their blessing to the controversial Santa Monica Freeway Diamond Lane experiment and hope the project continues for at least six months, local managers of the project have been told.

Duane C. Lewis, the Federal Highway Administration's district engineer, told the interagency board running the project Thursday that U.S. Secretary of Transportation William Coleman Jr. feels that many of the program's "negative aspects have been emphasized and its 'positives' shoved aside."

Lewis said the FHA, which is spending $250,000 to study the project's potential for other freeways, believes it will take at least six months but preferably a year to fully evaulate the innovation.

'Slasher' killing not done by defendant, witness testifies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "A white man with long, shaggy blond hair," not the black defendant on trial for his life, cut the throat of one of the nine Skid Row Slasher victims, a transient has testified.

Jimmy Anaya, 27, described in detail Thursday the grisly killing near the downtown library of the murder victim found in December 1974. The alleged assailant matched a drawing of the slasher distributed by police early in 1975 based on a description Anaya gave police.

However, Vaughn Orrin Greenwood, a black man with close-cropped hair, has been indicted for the slasher killings and is scheduled for trial June 1. He currently is serving 32 years to life for a series of crimes including a hatchet attack on two men and the 1975 burglary of actor Burt Reynold's home.

Anaya's testimony was videotaped in an unusual move at the request of Greenwood's attorney, Deputy Public Defender Charles Gessler, who said Anaya expressed "extreme reticence" at appearing at Greenwood's trial. Anaya was in custody as a material witness Thursday.

Anaya said he walked into the bushes near the library and heard "sort of a moan, like someone holding your mouth when you're trying to scream."

"I seen the man get killed" with a knife "that looked like a razor" reflecting in the light, Anaya said, adding he saw blood spurt from the victim's throat.

The assailant stared at him, Anaya continued, so he ran away.

Police identified the victim in Anaya's description as David Perez, the fourth slasher killing between Dec. 1, 1974 and Jan. 29, 1975.

Russ pack spying on U.S. aircraft carrier

ABOARD THE USS SARATOGA (AP) — A pack of Soviet ships are spying on the aircraft carrier Saratoga as she maneuvers in the Mediterranean a day away from Lebanon, U.S. officers report.

The officers say they have spotted at least five Soviet navy ships keeping tabs since the Saratoga steamed from Split, Yugoslavia, in early April for operations east of Crete.

On Thursday, a Soviet intelligence-gathering ship moved to within 300 yards of the 80,000-ton carrier.

"That's the closest we've seen one in a long while," said Rear Adm. Eugene J. Carroll Jr., commander of the 6th Fleet carrier task force.

The Soviet ship looked like a tugboat except for its electronic gear. Dwarfed by the carrier, it kept pace for about an hour before changing course. At the same time, a Soviet destroyer could be seen on the horizon.

Carroll asserted that a long-planned joint exercise with the Turkish navy brought the Saratoga to the area 400 miles from war-wracked Lebanon. But the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda has linked the U.S. naval presence with the Lebanese civil war and warned against any U.S. military intervention in the crisis.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union have a considerable naval presence in the Mediterranean. Each fleet keeps a close watch on the other one.

Officials aboard the Saratoga reported the 6th Fleet had 41 ships in the Mediterranean this week while the Soviets were operating 61. However, the Russians have no aircraft carriers.

Despite the cat-and-mouse surveillance, officials claim the danger of ship collisions has been reduced by a Soviet-American agreement in 1972.

Ordered to vacate home of seven-month vigil

24 awaiting Christ face eviction

GRANNIS, Ark. (AP) — The 24 persons who have waited in isolation since September for the second coming of Christ have been ordered by the Farmers Home Administration to leave their home by next Thursday, a leader in the vigil says.

"I can't imagine that we'll voluntarily leave," Elizabeth Nance Bard said Thursday. "I don't know what we'll do. We're taking things on a day-to-day basis."

The 24 live in Gene Nance's three-bedroom brick home on the outskirts of this community of 177. When the vigil began Sept. 29, the participants quit their jobs, took their children out of school, refused to talk with outsiders and stopped paying bills.

In January, they signed deeds to four homes back to the FHA. Three of the homes were vacant because their owners were in the vigil. The fourth was Nance's home, their headquarters.

"The FHA man told us (Monday) that we had 10 days to vacate," Mrs. Bard said. "I would say the chances that we would do that are compieteiy nil."

The FHA's regional director, Paul Griffith, confirmed Thursday that he had ordered the house vacated. He said if the occupants don't comply with the order, the case will be turned over to Agriculture Department attorneys in Little Rock.

The vigil has been beset by legal difficulties for months.

In late October, county officials ordered six school-age children removed from the house and returned to school. Juvenile Court Judge J.B. Stevenson said the six were violating a state law requiring children to attend school until they have completed the eighth grade or are 16 years old.

Another child was removed from the home in December during a custody fight between a member of the vigil and her ex-husband.

The vigil began during a family prayer meeting at the house, when 66-year-old Viola Walker said she received a message from God that the second coming was near and that those present should remain in the house.

All are related by blood or marriage.

1,000 may saddle up for Chino Rancho Ride

One thousand horsemen are expected to make their way into the Chino Hills Sunday for the 40th annual Chino Rancho Ride.

The two-hour family ride will begin at 9 a.m. from the staging area at Yorba Avenue and Bird Farm Road in Los Serranos.

Riders will go to an arena in Soquel Canyon where a barbecue and riding events are held. They cover nearly 20 miles of mountain trails.

Lowie Harris, the 18-year-old Claremont girl and Bonita High School senior chosen queen of the ride, will lead the parade of horses. Chino Realtor Andy Anderson will serve as grand marshal.

When riders reach the arena, a full slate of riding events will begin with prizes to be awarded to participants.

Overnight camping is available at the staging area and at the Chino Junior Fairgrounds. Breakfast Sunday will be offered at the Los Serranos Club House.

Chino Kiwanis Club members again are preparing the pit barbecue at the arena in Soquel Canyon, and it's included in the $4 ticket price for the ride. Tickets are a dollar more than last year.

Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and bus service will be provided nonriders at a roundtrip cost of $1. Three buses will be available.

Ed Pine, president of the Chino Rancho Ride Association, said the ride is held in an area of Chino Hills normally closed to the public, so riders "must stay on the trails."

No cars are permitted except those necessary for service, safety and fire protection.

The Rancho Ride was an outgrowth of Chino's 50th anniversary celebration in 1937, which included a horseman's parade.

Cancer fund drive aims at businesses

Businessmen in the valley will conduct a one-day appeal to colleagues on Tuesday seeking contributions to the American Cancer Society's 1976 fund-raising drive.

Campaign activities in the area are being coordinated for the fourth consecutive year by Tom Winters, Covina insurance executive. He is being assisted by Vern Bullington of Pasadena.

Fifty volunteers have been recruited to seek contributions to Northeast Los Angeles County Chapter's goal of $600,000.

The American Cancer Society relies entirely upon money from memorial gifts and the annual Cancer Crusade to support not only research but local programs of education, service and rehabilitation for cancer victims and their families.

L.A. judge becomes fifth hopeful for Takasugi post

Los Angeles Municipal Court Judge David J. Aisenson has announced his intention to run for the office now held by Pomona Superior Court Judge Robert M. Takasugi who recently was nominated for a federal court post by President Ford.

Aisenson joins four others in pursuit of Office No. 40 which now is held by Takasugi. The others are attorneys Nathan Azel, Burbank; S.S. Schwartz, Beverly Hills; John H. Wilbur, Downey; and Mario P. Gonzalez, Montebello.

Takasugi's appointment must be approved by the Senate.

In announcing his candidacy, Aisenson remarked: "My candidacy for the Superior Court post is based on reports that Judge Takasugi is in line for the federal appointment and would not seek to retain his present position." He added that it was not his intention to challenge Takasugi for the post.

Aisenson, 52, is a native of New York City but has lived in Los Angeles for 40 years. He is a graduate of Fairfax High School and UCLA. Immediately after receiving his law degree from Southwestern University in 1955 he passed the state bar examination and was admitted to the practice of law.

During World War II, Aisenson served in the Pacific with the Army Air Corps as a flying radio operator. He had been in private practice in the San Fernando Valley for a year when he was appointed a deputy in the District Attorney's Office in 1956.

In July of 1962 the judges of the Superior Court elected him a commissioner, a post involving many judicial duties. In 1966 he was elected to the Municipal Court.

Aisenson is married and has four children.

Baptists help man celebrate 80th year

Members of the Montclair First Baptist Church led by their pastor, Dr. Paul Horn, visited the home of Victor Hubbard at 1241 W. State St., Ontario, Thursday evening to help Hubbard celebrate his 80th birthday.

Hubbard, a retired printer, started his newspaper career as a telegrapher with the daily Progress in 1914. When telegraphy was replaced by teletype printers in 1923, Hubbard became a printer and remained with the Progress Bulletin until 1950. For five years before his retirement in 1955 Hubbard was associated with PB Press, later to become Day Printing Corp.

Pomona crime patrol hopes to raise funds with picnic

Members of the Pomona Base of the California Community Alert Patrol (C-CAP) are sponsoring a fund-raising family picnic Sunday at San Dimas Canyon Park.

Base Cmdr. Larry States said activities will begin at 9 a.m. with softball games, horseshoes and games for children, for which there will be prizes.

Public support is invited. Families are asked to bring their own food, and one gift-wrapped present which will be auctioned off.

Proceeds from the auction will be used to pay the cost of operating the base communications center, situated on the third floor of the Progress Bulletin Building, and the purchase of gasoline for city patrols conducted by base members. The newspaper donates the office space to the base.

States said from 1 to 2 p.m. charcoal barbecues would be lighted in the park for families to use for cooking. The auction is scheduled for 2 p.m.

Following the auction, gifts donated to the base for fund-raising purposes will be given away. These include a 23-channel mobile citizens band radio, a power mike, mobile antenna, a bullhorn speaker, a bird cage and a permanent wave.

States said the first citywide base patrol April 3 was successful and plans are underway to hold the patrol on Friday and Saturday nights on a regular basis. Pomona Police Officer Robert Rodriguez is the department's liaison with the C-CAP base, States said.

During patrols, C-CAP volunteers in radio-equipped vehicles monitor the city, which they have divided into 18 sections, and report to police anything they observe of a suspicious nature.

C-CAP is a nonprofit corporation and can accept tax deductible donations. The mailing address is Pomona Base C-CAP, P. O. Box 1943, Pomona 91769. Literature explaining the organization may be obtained by writing that address.

Telephone numbers in the communications center are 622-3233 and 623-2554.

C-CAP volunteers are unpaid, unarmed citizens who serve as eyes and ears for law enforcement.

Sr. citizen tours planned

A variety of tours for senior citizens will be offered during June by the Roamers Club, the senior citizen's club sponsored by the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department.

The June tours will include trips to Universal Studios, San Francisco, Sea World and Lakes Blue Jay and Arrowhead.

The club also has weekly activities such as dances, bowling, games and social gatherings.

L.V.'s building boom getting boomier

The City of La Verne apparently is assuring itself of remaining one of the fastest growing communities in the West with the acceptance of 17 subdivision tentative maps since January, calling for the construction of 819 new homes.

And by the end of the year the population may grow 26 per cent over the current estimate of 17,000, based on those housing starts, plus a mobile home park now under construction.

La Verne has been the second fastest growing city in Los Angeles County during the past half decade, growing 34 per cent since 1970. Only Cerritos, with a growth rate of more than 125 per cent, was higher.

But Planning Director Charles Le Gros says the number of housing starts is accelerating. By the end of December, he says, tentative maps may be filed for the construction of 1,500 new homes.

Considering an occupation rate of slightly more than three persons, that could account for 4,500 new residents.

Two tentative maps were approved by the City Council this week.

One, presented by Vanguard Builders of Cucamonga, calls for a 109-home subdivision on 26½ acres of land north of Canyon View Drive between Ramola Avenue and San Dimas Canyon Road. The other, by Murray Construction Co. of Arcadia, provides for construction of 61 homes on 18.3 acres east of Wheeler Avenue and south of Golden Hills Road.

The second subdivision also includes construction of the first 10 holes of an 18-hole golf course, directly east of the homes.

Builder Dan Murray told the council he is planning to build 487 homes on 236 acres of land there during the next two or three years.

Le Gros said nine of the 17 tract maps cover parcels located south of Foothill Boulevard.

All of the maps call for single family homes. They do not include the annexation of a mobile home park with 332 units, just east of the city limits and north of Foothill Boulevard. The annexation request was approved by the council this week.

Injured motorcyclist gets lift from snorkel

A 25-year-old Chino man survived a spectacular traffic accident Thursday afternoon when his motorcycle left Archibald Avenue at the end of the Ontario International Airport runway and sailed into a 30-foot dry wash.

Wayne Cash, 25, of 13683 Van Horn Circle, suffered multiple fractures and other injuries in the accident. He was listed in good condition at San Antonio Community hospital

Cash, driving home from work on his motorcycle, lost control of the bike eastbound on Archibald Avenue south of the runway, police said. The motorcycle bumped over an access road, traveled northeast and sailed into a 30-foot dry wash, police said.

Fortunately for Cash, Larry R. Eye, 34, of Norco saw the motorcycle leave the road and stopped his car to give Cash assistance. The Ontario Fire Department paramedics and the department's huge snorkle truck were called to the scene when police officers found it nearly impossible to bring Cash up the steep sides of the embankment. For nearly 30 minutes paramedics rendered first aid as firemen readied the snorkle truck to lift Cash out of the wash.

Cash was finally brought up and transported to Ontario Community Hospital for treatment. He was later transferred to San Antonio Community Hospital's orthopedic ward.

Throughout the rescue operation Cash was conscious and in good spirits, said paramedics.

Firemen at the scene said if Cash had crashed into the embankment without being seen by the other motorist, he might have lain in the wash for days without being discovered. The wash runs east and west at the far end of the runway and is obscured from the highway by huge stands of bamboo and a bridge.

UP HE GOES

Wayne Cash of Chino is gingerly lifted out of a deep wash at the end of the Ontario International Airport runway where his motorcycle left Archibald Avenue and crashed Thursday. Firemen and paramedics had to use the snorkle truck lift basket to remove Cash.

Pomona home becomes target of an arsonist

Flammable liquid tossed in through a barred living room window caused $12,000 damage to a home at 2454 Notre Dame Ave., Pomona, Thursday evening.

The occupants were away at the time and all windows and doors of the house were locked and covered with iron grillwork, causing Pomona firefighters to force entry through a side door.

Pomona Fire Chief John Fowlkes said obscene words had been spray-painted on the outside walls of the house. A neighbor was attempting to control the fire with a garden hose when firefighters arrived at about 7:30 p.m.

When the house co-owner, Charles Wickman, arrived at the scene he said a rock had been thrown through a living room window Wednesday night and the window had just been replaced late Thursday afternoon. Wickman also reported having received harassing phone calls during the past few days.

A $500 fire at Vanderbeck Printing Co., 245 Mission Blvd., Pomona, was caused by an electric short circuit to an outdoor advertising sign on the top of the building. The business is owned by Bernice Moran of Mira Loma.

Damage was confined to the roof.

Missing L.V. man found dead in tree

A La Verne man, missing since April 17, was found dead, hanging from a tree in a remote, wooded area of the city late Thursday morning, an apparent suicide victim.

The victim, Jan Noel Ozmun, 26, 2409 Pattiglen Ave., had been dead for several days, police said. The body was taken to the Los Angeles County Coroner's Office for autopsy.

The discovery, near San Dimas Canyon and Golden Hills roads, was made after La Verne police asked the assistance of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department in searching the area. Ozmun's car was found nearby April 16.

The body was spotted from the air by a sheriff's helicopter crew and was reached later by a three-man team of mountaineers from the San Dimas Mountain Rescue Team. Sheriff's department homicide investigators began a routine investigation of the death.

Police said they were unable to offer a reason for the victim taking his own life.

Bakersfield man found dead here

A Bakersfield man was found dead of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound late Thursday morning in his room in a Pomona motel, police reported.

The discovery was made by a maid, Annie Lee Gates, 53, when she entered the room to clean.

The victim was identified as Donald Larry Hargrove, 31.

Police reported that Hargrove apparently killed himself with a shotgun he had purchased the day before at a Pomona sporting goods store. No notes were found.

No more peace at union's price

About 210 million Americans do not live in San Francisco. But what is currently taking place in that city has a direct bearing on a question of concern to every urban American: Who runs the cities — the people or the municipal workers unions?

Nearly 2,000 of San Francisco's 18,000 city employes, members of 10 craft unions, went on strike March 31, halting trash collection and even taking the famous cable cars off the streets. Since then, San Franciscans have been further plagued by separate strikes involving bus and cab drivers.

Not that the strikers can be blamed. Voter-mandated budget cuts would slash the wages of street sweepers, for example, from $17,300 a year to between $12,000 and $14,300.

But what reason under the Californian sun was there for paying street sweepers more than $17,000 a year in the first place? This, along with other freewheeling spending which has led bus drivers for the Golden Gate Transit District to reject an offer that would give them about $28,500 in pay and benefits, was the price of capitulation to two previous municipal strikes.

Had San Franciscans indulged in less fiscal folly and exercised more firmness a few years ago, they might not be in the situation they are today. It is now a contest of wills, and the outcome depends upon which side can outlast the other.

But whatever the outcome of the strike in San Francisco, the moral should be plain to every city worker in every city in the country, whether overpaid or underpaid (and no doubt many are in the latter category). That is that the public's willingness to buy labor peace at any price is coming to an end.

An electrifying concept

This country doesn't run on oil or natural gas or coal or fossil fuel-generated electricity. It runs on batteries.

Not really, of course, but the statistics about battery use indicate it is not all that outlandish an exaggeration.

Approximately 380 million battery-operated devices are in use in the United States — everything from flashlights to movie cameras, calculators to transistor radios, and toys and every size, shape and description. Consumption of batteries, most of them the dry-cell variety which are quickly used up and thrown away, has risen from 225 million a year to 600 million in the past 10 years and amounts to something like $40 a year per family.

Hoping to cash in on this vast and growing market, as well as Americans' concern about the conservation of natural resources, one of the giants of the electrical industry, General Electric, has just introduced a battery made of nickel-cadmium (nicad) that can be recharged on ordinary house current. Although nicads have been around for a long time, they have for the most part been confined to such things as flashguns and garden tools. And while charging units for conventional dry cells are sold, these batteries are not truly rechargeable.

The initial outlay for the GE system is stiff — about $6 for the plug-in charger and module to fit the popular battery sizes, plus several dollars more for the batteries themselves. But this is more than offset, says the company, by the fact that the batteries are fully rechargeable up to 1,000 times.

The news, the company hopes, will prove electrifying to millions of battery-devourers.

Just in jest

We were communicating reasonably well until my wife purchased Sunset's "Western Garden Book." But since that time I have begun to realize that building Towers of Babel isn't the only way to confound the language.

"Be sure to water the Polianthes," she tells me. "The Dianthus and the Trillium should get heavy soakings, but the Japonica Balliana can wait until tomorrow. And oh yes, don't do a thing to the Trevithian, I think it needs special care and I am going to talk to the nurseryman about it."

It's all very confusing since, horticulturally, I never got much farther than a rose is a rose is a rose is a rose. I did suggest that it would be much simpler if she would just say do this to the red flowers, that to the blue flowers but don't you dare touch the white ones. However, like most wives, she continues valiantly in her attempts to remedy my horticultural illiteracy. Someday, I suppose, I may finally be able to recognize an Erythronium. But in the meantime I have adopted the philosophy of Confucius: If horticultural erudition is inevitable, relax and enjoy it.

Insured motorists

Dear Editor:

Recent Sacramento news releases dealing with California automobile laws prompt the following comments:

Bill AB 859 by Assemblyman Bill McVittie would require the insurance companies to provide clear explanations of the options available to the motorist, whether or not to have the uninsured motorist protection. Why does not Mr. McVittie direct his effort toward completely eliminating the uninsured motorist? He admits that 25 per cent of the state's motorists are uninsured. Since those who pay to be insured must pay extra because of this 25 per cent, it would seem the ideal thing to do would be to have 100 per cent of the motorists of the state insured.

This is successfully brought about in New York state and has been since 1958. Simple enforcement of the law was written into the law before passage. When one gets a dog license here, rabies and distemper shot verification must be produced or no license. This same system carries over to car insurance in New York. One goes to his insurance agent and gets the FS-2 form attesting to having the minimum liability insurance the state requires. This must be produced at the time of application for a new license; if not, the license is not forthcoming.

Several spin-offs of a beneficial nature resulted from the New York law:

1. People who could not afford to keep their cars in safe condition could not afford the insurance and these hazardous vehicles went off the road and were junked.

2. Public transportation enjoyed new business from these people (a situation that would benefit Southern California in reduction of air pollution and reduction in gasoline consumption).

3. Insurance rates were decreased.

A second article concerned the test being tried out by the DMV. The headline, "People who can't read still can get driver's license." Already we have people parking under "No Parking" signs in the shopping centers. Are they trying to put pedestrians behind the wheel who cannot read the flashing red sign "Don't Walk"?

The enforcement, after passage, of required liability insurance and the reconsideration of the law allowing people who can not read to drive might help our pollution and waste of precious gasoline in Southern California by the elimination of some vehicles from the road. Heaven knows it couldn't make it worse! — Richard Starr, Chino

Cambodian horror story

WASHINGTON — The world's two most brutal dictatorships, according to the evidence in intelligence files, are Cambodia and North Korea.

Cambodia's Communist firebrands have turned their country into a nation of cattle. Cities have been emptied and the population has been herded into the hinterland, with no thought for their welfare. Hundreds of thousands have fallen by the wayside.

In North Korea, the populace has been terrorized by the government for two generations. Hundreds of thousands have been imprisoned or banished to remote mountainous areas for no other reason than that some anonymous bureaucrat decided they were "unreliable." At least half of the population is kept under varying surveillance.

These are human sagas, epic events. Yet the world press has paid scant attention, devoting its energies instead to exposing corruption across the Cambodian border in Thailand and excoriating President Chung Hee Park on the other side of the 38th parallel in South Korea.

In both Communist dictatorships, the rulers have pulled down the blinds, and they carefully control the light that leaks through. Yet the harsh facts are available from eye witnesses — not political opponents whose reports might be suspect but refugees who have escaped from the horrors. Their stories have been checked and verified by intelligence analysts a hundred times over.

The Khmer Rouge regine, after seizing power in Cambodia, drove the people out of the cities, en mas-'se. They were routed out of their homes, turned out of hospitals, prodded out of sick beds.

The mass exodus developed into a death march, without parallel in modern times. Countless Cambodians were herded like human cattle to unknown destinations, clutching a few bundled belongings, carrying their invalids on stretchers, a few hobbling on crutches. The scenes described by the escapees were horrendous.

The exodus routes were littered with the corpses of the old, the sick and the weak who couldn't keep up. The Khmer guerrillas who policed these human highways provided almost no food, water or medicine.

As the crowning cruelty, the men and women were deliberately separated to break up families. Subsequently, the Khmer Rouge ordered the people to take new names to make it more difficult for loved ones to find one another.

The survivors were distributed throughout the countryside in groups, with instructions to build huts and plant rice. Until the first harvest came in, the displaced city people subsisted on frogs, insects and wild roots.

Why did the Khmer Rouge uproot the populace? The story has been put out that the new rulers are agrarian fundamentalists, who wanted to get the people back to the soil and make Cambodia self-sufficient. But intelligence analysts have concluded, based upon the jigsaw pieces they have been able to put together, that the real reason for scattering the people was to keep them under control.

At the time of the takeover, the Khmer Rouge had only an estimated 40,000 troops to control a population of over seven million. The cities were populated with the more sophisticated people, subjected to foreign influence. The Khmer leaders, therefore, feared the cities would become centers of resistance.

This was also the reason that families were broken up, leaving individuals with no ties that could be used to organize opposition. The Khmers were suspicious of anyone with an education, anyone who might be susceptible to alien ideas. In some areas, anyone who could read and write was killed.

All schools have also been closed down, presumably until the Khmer Rouge can train enough trusted teachers to re-educate the nation. The only education now permitted is political indoctrination, a fanatic form of foreign-hating, chauvinistic Marxism.

The harsh, dogmatic, men who now rule Cambodia understand, above all, the best way to control the masses is, first to cow them and, then, to indoctrinate them. The Khmers moved swiftly, therefore, to stamp out the slightest resistance, real or imagined.

The former Cambodian army was quickly disbanded and its officers largely eliminated. Some soliders were roped together and clubbed to death. The few who escaped to tell about it showed rope burns on the arms.

Others were corraled in work camps, where they were worked mercilessly for long hours and subjected to additional hours of hysterical indoctrination. Discipline in these camps is extremely harsh, with beatings and killings for the slightest misdeeds.

National unity lacking

The notion that serious issues of foreign policy can be excluded from political debate during Presidential election years is as unrealistic as it is essentially untenable. Certainly there are moments in national history, such as the period after Pearl Harbor, when the country's mortal peril calls for a maximum manifestation of national unity. But such desperate hours are fortunately rare.

What is happening in the United States now, however, is that momentous national decisions . . . and indecisions . . . are being shaped by the power of an extremist faction in the Republican Party aligned with Democrats identified with Senator Henry Jackson of Washington State.

There is no effective challenge to that alliance primarily because President Ford remains irresolute and Secretary of State Kissinger too often recites conflicting, contradictory signals. Neither offers any leadership to inspire a bi-partisan counteroffensive against the Reagan-Jackson pressures, significantly promoted by former Defense Secretary Schlesinger and backed by the present Pentagon establishment.

The fateful consequences of this vacillation and confusion is reflected in a recent Washington dispatch in the New York Times. The paper reported that the quest for a Soviet-American agreement curbing strategic arms has been deadlocked, and there was little hope for any revival until after the November elections.

On the one hand we are told that President Ford, "forced on the defensive by attacks on his detente and defense policies," has been persuaded "not to push ahead with the kind of negotiating approach that might have facilitated an accord."

At the same time, it is reported, "the Soviet Union, apparently concerned about the growing anti-Soviet pronouncements in this country, has given signs of reassessing its own relations with the United States."

In this dreary interlude, the air is further clouded by ex-Pentagon chief Schlesinger's suggestion that the U.S. solemnly consider military aid to China, presumably as a super-strategic diplomatic weapon designed to produce submission in Moscow.

It's hard to imagine a strategy more calculated to create the reverse result. It is especially bizarre at this moment of turmoil in Peking. In Texas the other day, President Ford appeared to dispute the adventurism of the Reaganite contingent. Unhappily his voice fluctuates so bewilderingly between his own strident affirmations of our role as "Number One" and his rejection of belligerent postures that no clear message emerges.

This is a time when a Democratic presidential aspirant who challenged Ford to join in promoting a program of international stability might achieve a hearing from a country weary of new military burdens.

It's not thought that the White House will have a congenial reaction to such approaches, but the initiative could at least lift the level of national dialogue, now dominated by the offensive of the hawks.

Public investments

Editor's note: During his hospitalization, top state officials are filling in for Earl G. Waters. Today his guest is John F. Dunlap, State Senator, 4th District.

The State Legislature is beginning to recognize a need to oversee the state's $17 billion in investments. State and local agencies have failed to be attentive to all social, environmental, economic, and political responsibilities flowing from this vast investment.

State and local retirement funds and the University of California Regents' endowment funds are held in stocks, real estate, bonds, treasury notes, annuities, bank deposits, and other types of investments. In addition to the Regents, the agencies involved include the Public Employees', State Teachers', Legislative, Judges', and local retirement systems.

In January 1975, a member of my staff published a report entitled, "California State and Local Investments: A Guide for Responsible Ownership". It revealed that a large percentage of public funds are invested in common (voting) stocks in many U. S. multi-national corporations. The report also indicated that the respective agencies were next exercising responsibility for voting this stock. It also demonstrated that this publicly-owned stock was ordinarily voted either by an investment counselor or by a blanket proxy to corporate management.

For example, the U. C. Board of Regents' Investment Committee has voted by management proxy for both its employees' retirement and its University endowment funds. The University of California has supported corporate management on virtually every issue before shareholders meetings. In 1974, a Regent representative testifying at a legislative hearing called this "good corporate citizenship". "Management yes men" is more like it.

In 1974, ninety resolutions concerning social, environmental, political, and economic issues were proposed to more than sixty corporations. In 1975, eighty-seven such resolutions were proposed to sixty-two corporations. They were sponsored by public spirited non-profit corporations, national and regional church organizations, and individual shareholders.

The resolutions included such subjects as control of corporate political activities, requiring corporate democracy, providing for equal employment opportunities, cessation of strip mining, revealing investments in foreign countries and military production, and prohibiting illegal campaign contributions and bribes to foreign government officials. In short, we found that our stock (owned and controlled by these agencies for us) was being automatically voted against reform resolutions, many of which sought to implement into the corporate structure, policies which we have already adopted legislatively.

In an effort to move the state in the direction of greater responsibility and involve the public in the corporate decision-making process, the Legislature last year enacted several measures I introduced. They included:

(1) Requiring local retirement associations to request their fiduciaries to forward proxies directly to the governing board.

(2) Requiring public investors to support cumulative voting resolutions in foreign corporations. Cumulative voting gives smaller shareholder interests greater opportunity to participate in corporate management.

(3) Requiring California corporations to permit shareholder abstentions.

This year, I have introduced Senate Bill 1646 which requires Californians to disclose any parent subsidiary relationship, and Senate Bill 1647 which calls for retirement systems to include a report of their voting of common stock in annual reports to members. We have just scratched the surface, but at least we have started.

Mobile home dwellers must part with dogs

For the past four years we have lived in a mobile home park.

We have a family of dogs, the mother, the father and a four-month-old puppy.

For the last two years we have paid $5 extra rent each for the parent male and the female.

This January a state law was passed that the mobile home parks cannot charge for pets unless they have runs and kennels.

The owners of the park where we live didn't know the law so in February I called it to their attention.

Since then they have quit charging for pets and we have been given a 30-day notice to get rid of all but one dog.

All the time we paid extra for our dogs nothing was said. They are only outside a couple of times a day on a chain. We are the only ones in the park who have more than one dog.

Can they make us get rid of our dogs? We do not have any children and these dogs fill up the emptiness. — Mrs. G. W., Ontario.

Time is all we are able to get for you.

We asked the Golden State Mobilhome Owners League, Inc., to help you.

A representative of the league called at your home and informed you that mobile home park owners must give six months' notice when they change a rule. Therefore you have that long to decide whether you want to give up your dogs or take them and your mobile home to another location.

I filed my state income tax form last January but have not received my $25 rental refund, although I qualify for it.

A friend of mine made out her return just the way I did and she got her refund right away. Can you find out why I didn't get mine? — B. S., La Verne.

You sent us a copy of your return. We sent it to the Los Angeles office of the Franchise Tax Board.

Apparently your friend was just lucky. Roger C. Poynter, a tax computation supervisor, said your return was not properly made out.

He sent you a copy showing what you should have done and an additional renter's credit form for you to fill out and return.

If your answers to questions on the latter form show you qualify for the credit, you'll get your refund.

Three and a half months ago I ordered a photo album and a ring I was told I had won from United States Purchasing Exchange in North Hollywood.

The album alone cost $3.97. Altogether I paid $6.21 including handling charges, a charge of 99 cents made in connection with the ring and sales tax.

I have sent several letters to the firm because I have never received my order. In return I got two cards telling me there had been a slight delay. The most recent one, received more than three weeks ago, said my order had been shipped and I should receive it shortly.

It never has arrived. — R. B., La Verne.

Our inquiry brought a copy of a letter to you from Sharri Tucker, customer service manager of the firm, which incidentally is a private stock corporation not connected with the government.

She apologized to you for the delay, saying the firm's records show your order had been shipped. It apparently was lost in transit, she told you.

You were promised that your order would be reshipped. Two weeks later you got it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your heartstrings and purse strings can be easily reached today. Be careful they're not pulled by someone with selfish motives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't let a friend involve you in petty intrigues today. It could cause a problem with someone you care a great deal about.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Trying to have things too much your own way today will rankle your companions. Keep their good will. Be co-operative.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your feelings may be a bit more vulnerable than usual today. Don't misinterpret something someone says, and respond erratically.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In your desire to be helpful today you might unintentionally contribute new complications. Stay out of others' affairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you have an important decision to make today, be doubly sure you're apprised of all facts. A judgment made on inadequate information will cause a problem.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may attempt to do something on your own today instead of hiring an expert. It could cost you more in the long run.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're not your usually sharp self in business and financial matters today. Think carefully before making commitments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be extra-safety-conscious with tasks around the house today. Take a little more time rather than do something dangerous.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Double-check anything you sign or put in writing today. There's a possibility you may overlook something important.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Think twice today before making a loan to a friend who is a poor risk. You could have some difficulties in recovering it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't champion a cause today that you know is unpopular with your companions. It could cause arguments and hard feelings.

This coming year you may enter into several unusual, but interesting, partnerships. If your choice of associates is wise, mutual benefits will result.

Curb the neurotic compulsion

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't consider my problem too minor to print. I need to know what to do about a habit that is not only driving me nuts, but making me unpopular with my friends.

You've heard of knuckle-cracking, I'm sure. Well, I am what you might call a bit of a freak. I can crack not only my knuckles, but my toes, my knees, ankles, wrists, and my neck. Yesterday I discovered I can crack my nose.

At first it was funny, but now I am getting on people's nerves. I wish I could stop it, but I can't. This all started about three months ago when some girls asked me to do it at a party. Now I can't quit. Any suggestions? — Out Of Control

Dear Out: Develop a substitute — like standing on your toes and reaching for the ceiling, or spreading your fingers apart as far as you can — something physical. This might break the neurotic compulsion to crack all those joints, which is what you have, bub.

Dear Ann Landers: I am worried about my 21-year-old sister. She wants to take LSD to lose weight. Actually, she's not fat, but she thinks she is. Her dream is to be so skinny her hip bones will stick out like the models in fashion magazines. Her two best friends are practically skin and bones. They take LSD and she wants to try it, too.

I am only 17 and Sis doesn't pay much attention to me. (She doesn't think you know anything either.) But maybe if she sees in print exactly what LSD does to people, she will get scared off the idea.

Please, Ann, you have the facts. I don't. Can you tell my sister the dangers of LSD. — Frightened For Her

Dear Frightened: For openers, your sister needs psychiatric help. Girls (almost never boys) who are not overweight, but have a mad desire to be very skinny have an illness called anorexia nervosa. This could be her central problem.

LSD is a psychedelic or hallucinogenic drug that produces a "trip." It could last anywhere from 12 to 14 hours. LSD distorts the mind and makes the user believe he can fly or float or perform superhuman feats. For this reason, many LSD users have killed themselves because they jumped out of windows, thinking they could fly. Or they walked in front of trains and cars, believing they could stop them with their hands.

Flashbacks among LSD users are not uncommon. Often weeks or months after the person has stopped taking the drug, he may trip out again for no apparent reason. This experience can be terrifying, because the person then realizes his head is messed up even though he has vowed never to touch the stuff again.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 46 years. He is a lovely man, but he has a snore like a tuba in the Chicago Symphony. I want to move him into the guest room so I can get some sleep. He is agreeable, but my mother says no. What do you say? — Undecided

Dear Un: A woman who has been married 46 years doesn't need her mother's advice. Move him already.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teenage Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Shook up over earthquakes

When a modest but alarming earthquake shook up Seattle not long ago, a tanned commercial traveler strode to a position beneath the arched porticos of the hotel lobby.

"I'm from California," he announced calmly. "In an earthquake, we stand under doorways."

Another man ran frantically around the lobby, shirt tail flapping.

"I'm from Chicago!" he shouted. "Where the hell do I stand?"

What brings this macabre little anecdote to mind is the fact that the golden state of California in the past few years has begun to bulge like a pregnant woman, and our geophysical gynecologists are warning us that in the next few years we are due for a really smashing shakeup that will make the film "Earthquake" look like a soap opera.

The principal swelling of the earth's surface is a 120-mile-long, kidney-shaped area centered around Palmdale, a heretofore unnoticed hamlet perched in suicidal ignorance right smack on the San Andreas Fault, a 600-mile geologic mistake that quivers like a tomato aspic when a truck crosses it.

Palmdale (pop. 13,500) may have been heretofore unnoticed, but it is now the object of close scrutiny — by such jolly groups as the California Earthquake Prediction Council, the Earthquake Research Center of the U.S. Geological Survey, and the California Seismic Safety Commission. Personally, I'd rather have the vultures.

"The Palmdale Bulge," as it is unpopularly known, bodes nothing but disaster for those cities and towns huddled along the San Andreas Fault, the boundary of two massive tectonic plates that are slowly shifting. Maybe the time has come for us to shift — and not slowly.

The bulge, to be sure, is hardly a shouldering up of new mountain ranges. The lift has only been 10 inches in the past 10 years, but scientists worry a lot about little things, and I guess it's as well for us that they do. They've plugged the region from Maricopa to the Cajon Pass with tilt meters, seismometers, magnetometers and other sophisticated measuring devices to keep tabs on the labor pains.

Scientists are presently concerned over giving the public an alarm, which might be false, or keeping their magnetometers shut. If they announce "We're for it!" general panic ensues, headed by Orson Welles. If they shut up, the physical and psychological damages might be much greater. What to do?

What IS there to do — besides flee? When the ground starts shaking, buildings sway, freeway bridges drop and the bottles fall off the shelves in a thousand liquor stores, that's it. Hurricanes, you batten down. Fires, you lay up the hose. Air raids, you head for the shelter. Earthquakes? Go to church and put an extra fiver in the collection plate while hiding under a pew.

The main thing to remember during an earthquake — don't get shook up.

Let's hope we win the Battle of the Bulge.

Dr. Lamb

Avocado has plenty of fat

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been watching the statements you have made about diet and atherosclerosis prevention and have found them to be helpful. However, I have some questions of importance to my own diet which you have not touched upon.

What about avocados? The avocado industry would have us believe that avocados are great because there are only 264 carlories per avocado with not a smidgen of cholesterol. They say nothing, however, about saturated fats, and somehow I find it hard to believe that anything so tasty could be good for my coronary arteries.

Also what do you think of creamy salad dressings made with half safflower mayonnaise and half yogurt?

DEAR READER — The U.S. Department of Agriculture states that a California avocado, about 3 and one-eighth inches in diameter, weighs 284 grams and provides 370 calories. About 37 grams of the entire weight (seeds, skin and all) is fat. This means that over 300 of the total 370 calories in the avocado is fat. I believe it's fair to say then that you should consider that an avocado is mostly a fat food since 85 per cent of its calories are fat. About 20 per cent of the fat in the avocado is saturated fat. The avocado association is correct in saying that it contains no cholesterol — no plant foods do. Cholesterol is strictly an animal product.

The primary concern then about the use of avocados in the diet is their high fat content and the amount of saturated fat they contain. The Inter-Society Commission For Heart Disease Resources recommends limiting your total fat intake in the diet to no more than 35 per cent of your total calories. That means you can't eat very many avocados if you eat any other foods that contain any moderate amount of fat. The Commission also recommends that you limit your saturated fat intake to 10 per cent of your total calories.

This does not mean that you can't eat avocados but it does mean that when you use avocados you should further restrict the other fat containing foods in your diet. That means that you would need to rely on fortified skim milk, very lean meats, lean fish and prepare foods without adding fats to them. An avocado begins to fall into the category of a vegetable margarine.

Creamy salad dressings are one of the major sources of increased calories in the diet. Since none of the dietary principles are very important unless you restrict your calories sufficiently to avoid obesity, this becomes important. A good leafy salad that would be good for your diet is often a disaster because people add high calorie dressings to it. Remember that there is a restriction on all types of fat, not just saturated fat, and there is a restriction on the total calories of any type if you are going to meet the dietary goals to prevent heart and vascular disease. For this reason I am more inclined to recommend one of the low calorie salad dressings that is commercially available.

For more information on the principals of a diet to prevent heart disease send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 2-3, Diet Preventing Atherosclerosis. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

This is a very sad week in the column. We have to chronicle another death. British internationalist and 1955 world champion Adam Meridith, who had lived in New York since 1956, died in January.

Adam wasn't a great technician, but he was a great psychologist and a man who could get into the bidding with almost nothing.

His three-heart bid as West was typical of his swashbuckling style as was his later jump to six hearts that helped get his vulnerable opponents all the way to seven spades. East liked his ace of clubs and doubled whereupon South ran to seven notrump.

Adam doubled that one and was faced with a lead problem.

That is, it would have been a lead problem for most players. It wasn't for him. He reasoned that South had to be well prepared for hearts, that if East had a spade trick it would keep and that the club suit was the one to lead. He did and South was down two on a hand that would make against any other lead.

Ask the Jacobys

A Maine reader asks what you should bid with:

♠ K J x x x ♥ A x x ♦ x x ♣ x x x

You are in fourth seat and the bidding has gone one heart — double (by your partner) — one spade.

The answer is that you double the one-spade bid. This is a business double. If the spade bidder is fooling around he will run out and you should bid two spades to complete exposure of the foolery.

Mass wedding unites empires

Believe our Love and War man already told you about the big wedding of 324 B. C. in Susa, Persia. Alexander the Great in a single ceremony married off 10,000 of his Macedonian soldiers to that many Persian girls. It remains the biggest mass wedding in all history. Client asks what prompted Alex to do the thing, sheer lust? No, it was his ambition to unite two empires, and it sure did that.

Most of the trivia experts credit a San Francisco bartender with the invention of that concoction known as the martini. It remains the most ordered of mixed drinks, I'm told.

Peculiarly enough, it's not yet really known why men are more apt to snore than are women.

CATTLE BRAND

Q. "Who first used the cattle brand of three Christian crosses?"

A. None other than Hernado Cortez, the Spaniard who conquered Mexico. Was Cortez, in fact, who originated the hot-iron brand for cattle.

Maybe you knew that a reindeer is a superb swimmer, but did you know why? The hair is hollow, tra la. It keeps the beast afloat.

Although that plant called chlamydomonas comes not just in two sexes but in 10, it remains unconfused, report the botanists.

Two bad more men than women go to Alaska. Should be the other way around. Women have almost twice as much physical protection from the cold as do men. Takes higher temperatures to make them perspire, too.

WAITRESS WORK

The surveytakers checked out 25,000 restaurants, hotel and motels. Tipped employees, they learned, earn as much as 62 per cent more money per hour than do the untipped employees in the same jobs. Brings to mind a directive my mother once delivered to my sister: "Don't take up work as a waitress. Too soon a waitress learns to live on her tips and bank her salary, so she finds other jobs unacceptable thereafter. But waitress work will kill you. Not even the daily security is worth that life-long pain in your back."

Understand it's still true that the United States scraps more cars every year than the rest of the world manufactures . . . It's a matter of record, too that the average woman uses exactly 19 rollers in putting up her hair . . . Those who research the medical records say women have four times as much foot trouble as do men.

In the winter and the spring, the setting sun moves northward on the horizon each day by a distance equal to half its diameter.

Item No. 1476-B in our Love and War man's file of advice to single lads reads: "Don't even consider marrying the girl until you've seen her sing a prayer, cook a breakfast, and come in wet from a storm."

Diary for Dieters

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm 40 pounds overweight and I can't seem to lose it. Last week, a friend told me that since she has started keeping a dieting diary she has managed to lose weight. Do you have any idea how this works? Or does it? — E.P.

Dear E.P.: Keeping a "what-I-eat" diary is a device used in the behavioral modification approach to reducing. In group therapy programs, participants are asked to record when, what, why, and how much they eat, as well as their feelings while eating it. Because the overweight often are unaware of overeating patterns, taking time out to record intake, in fact the very act of writing it down, helps make them conscious of what they're doing.

Diary-keeping is just part of the approach. To modify behavior around food, I suggest you follow these rules:

Eat only when seated at the dining room table, never while standing, watching TV or reading.

Put down your knife and fork between mouthfuls. Take time to savor each bite. Chew it. Study the taste and texture. (These suggestions aim at slowing a vacuum-cleaner approach to eating.)

Eat only when you're hungry and only at meals. Stop — no matter how good it tastes — when your hunger is appeased.

The behavioral modification approach to dieting has enjoyed great success. Try it and you just might find you're eating much less and enjoying it more.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My first husband died. Two years ago I remarried, so my son and daughter would have a father. Once a week while I'm at night school my husband takes my 14-year-old daughter to R-rated movies. I don't approve but my husband insists that this exposure is good for her. He also believes nudity is healthful and at his request, we all swim in our pool in the nude. — M.C.

Dear M.C.: There is much disagreement about how sexual stimulation affects a child. However, I believe there is no question that the explicit material in most R-rated films is sexually stimulating, certainly to a 14-year-old. In addition, there frequently is violence and more sophistication in such films than any 14-year-old can handle. Aside from their danger from a sexual point of view, most of these films bring up moral problems and issues that could easily be misunderstood or misinterpreted. Frequently, the evil is presented because it is more dramatic and, to most people, more interesting than the good.

A weekly diet of this negative view could scar your daughter and embitter her at a period when most youngsters are idealistic.

In my opinion, there is something unhealthy about a man who insists on exposing his daughter to this type of entertainment. The normal father is concerned about protecting his young daughter. It would appear that your husband is sexually stimulated by your daughter's presence. I think this might also apply to his attitudes about nude swimming. He may try to justify his behavior by pretending to believe this is beneficial to his stepchildren but I would say it is only a cover.

I think the situation is extremely unhealthy for your daughter. She will either be over-stimulated or she will be frightened and repelled. Insist on a change in movie programs.

The political arena

Richardson backs ban on public employe strikes

STATE SEN. H. L. RICHARDSON, R-19th Dist., has joined other legislators in endorsing an initiative constitutional amendment that would prohibit strikes by public employes and provide for immediate dismissal and loss of tenure and seniority for violators.

The initiative is sponsored by the Committee for Individual Rights, with headquarters in Calabasas. The committee is urging citizens to circulate petitions for signatures to qualify the measure for the November ballot.

The initiative would also prohibit closed shops or mandatory union dues and require that final decisions on wages, hours and other matters related to employment be made by the governing body of the public entity.

Supporters said the measure is needed to avert a financial disaster similar to that in New York City.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL McVITTIE, D-65th Dist., has called drug abuse California's "two-headed monster" which must be attacked by law enforcement and health care professions.

Speaking to the San Bernardino County Medical Society, the Upland legislator criticized state Health Director Jerome Lackner on his recent suggestion that heroin be decriminalized as one approach to the problem.

"Proposing that addicts be offered free heroin makes about as much sense to me as suggesting that obese people be given all the chocolate sodas they need until they kick their overeating habit," he said.

REP. JOHN ROUSSELOT, R-26th Dist., said the recent disclosure that the State Department is formulating plans to give up U.S. sovereignty over the Panama Canal is another example of Secretary of State Henry Kisinger's "ill conceived and badly calculated" foreign policy.

"The American taxpayers have invested $7 billion over the years in the Panama Canal Zone and to forfeit our sovereign rights at this point in time would be not only a waste of our investment in that country but also a grave risk to the security of our nation and the many countries which depend on the canal for their trade operations."

Rousselot said the American people have been misled into believing the nation's interest in the Canal Zone were protected while the Administration has been lending approval to State Department initiatives which would surrender U.S. rights and interests in Panama.

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., has asked for Congressional hearings on his bill to abolish unnecessary federal regulatiory agencies unless they are proven worthwhile by Congress or the President.

The West Covina legislator said 25 members of Congress signed his request for hearings on the self-destruct bill and 50 members have cosponsored the legislation.

In a letter to Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, Lloyd stated:

"We have become increasingly concerned about the impact which certain federal regulatory agencies have had on the nation's businesses and consumers.

"We, therefore, respectfully request that hearings on House Resolution 10804 introduced by Lloyd and similar legislative proposals be scheduled as quickly as possible."

Lloyd said he wanted to preserve essential services and protections of federal regulatory agencies that waste must be trimmed so the federal budget can be balanced.

REP. ALPHONZO BELL, R-27th Dist., will be speaker at the San Gabriel-Pomona Valley Unit, California Republican Assembly program Monday in West Covina. He is a candidate for the U.S. Senate.

The meeting, starting at 8 p.m., will be held at the New Coast Federal Savings and Loan Association building located on Citrus Avenue north of the San Bernardino Freeway.

Bell, of Los Angeles, has served eight terms in the House of Representatives. He served 20 years as president of Bell Petroleum Co. of California which he sold in 1974.

The Republican unit announced its new officers. They are Dr. Everett Calvert, president; Dr. M. R. Rogers, first vice president; Susi Pacifico, second vice president; Ernest Gordon, treasurer; Nancy Sickenger, recording secretary, and Kathleen Burns, corresponding secretary.

Fiesta set

A general planning meeting for the Cherrieville Council's Cinco de Mayo fiesta in Pomona will be held Monday at 6:30 p.m. at 759 W. Monterey Ave. in Pomona.

The fiesta is planned for May 9 from 1 to 7 p.m. at Cherrieville Park.

Pots and plants

Be able to recognize the warning signals

By JANET TARA
(Ninth in a Series)

Unfortunately the symptoms that indicate a plant is suffering from underwatering, overwatering, crowded root conditions, irregular watering or high temperature are very similar. Here are a few tips for trying to diagnose an ailing plant:

Lower leaves turn yellow and fall off. Common in newly acquired plants that are trying to readjust to new surroundings. Check for overwatering, examine roots. Check for crowded root conditions and repot if necessary.

New growth comes in smaller. Greenhouse grown plants are generally in their fullest health and beauty when purchased. Without the same conditions — high humidity, even temperature, perfect light — it is almost impossible for the plant to maintain its former fullness. Check light requirements and be sure to meet fertilizer requirements.

New growth strung out and reaching for the light. Possibly too much fertilizer and-or improper light conditions are forcing the plant to stretch itself toward the light source.

Half or less of the leaf turns dark brown or black. Irregular, improper, or "teasing" pattern of watering — never quite enough for all the soil to get wet. Pay more attention to watering needs of the plant and the type of pot it is in. Plant could be too close to a hot window area where there is no air curculation. Check drafts, overfeeding, sunscorch.

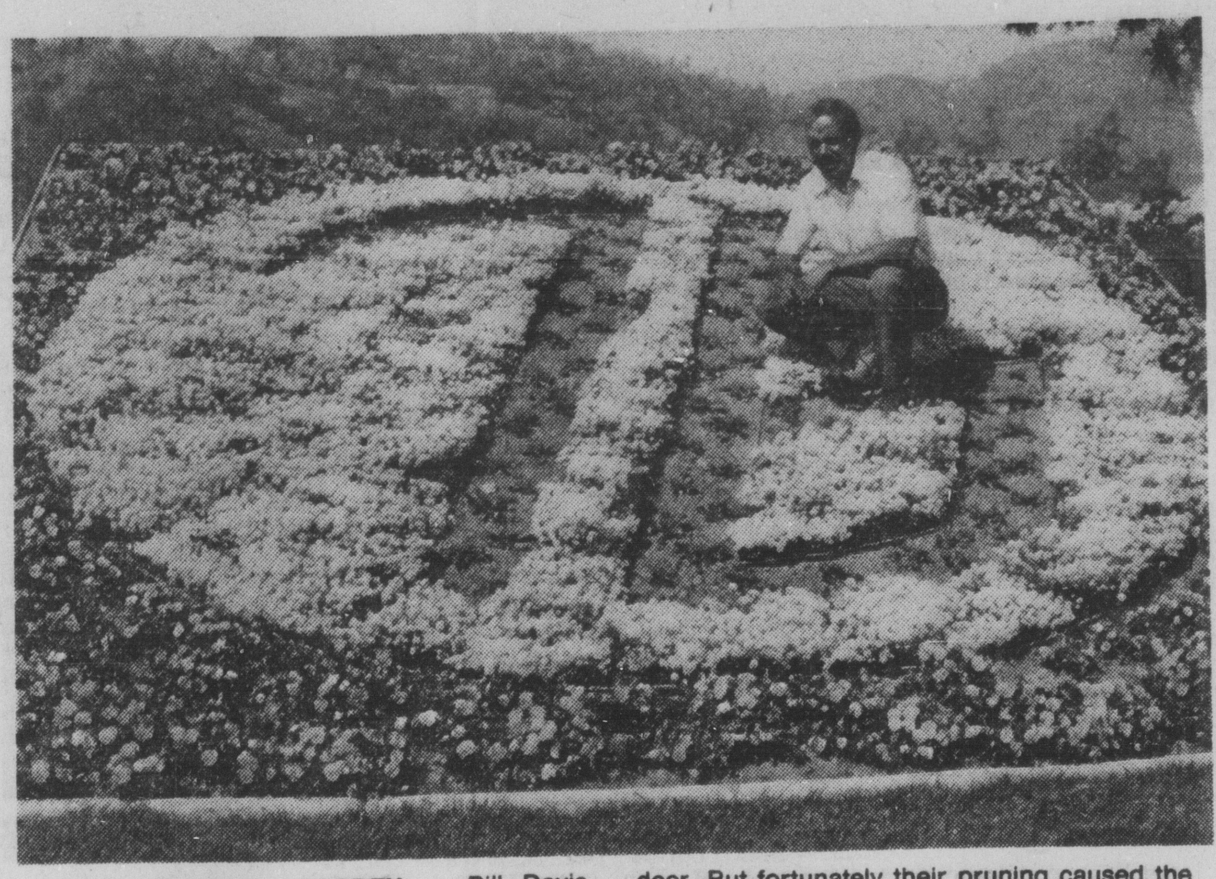
First crops

The first crops in Montana were wheat and potatoes grown by Father Pierre Jean De Smet, a Jesuit missionary of St. Mary's Mission near Stevensville.



NOW A VICTORY GARDEN — Bill Davis, groundsman at Cal Poly, almost had his Bicentennial garden idea eaten away by hungry deer. But fortunately their pruning caused the flowers to grow back better than ever. He's now calling it a Victory Garden.

Bicentennial garden

His patriotism challenged

Bill Davis is a groundsman at Cal Poly Pomona's Kellogg West Center for Continuing Education. He is also an American living in the year of the 200th birthday of his country. Take these elements, put them together, and you come up with a story about one patriot's struggle to keep the deer out of his bicentennial salute.

It all began last fall with Davis' suggestion that the grounds crew plant a bicentennial garden plot with red, white and blue flowers spelling out '76.

By December the flats of young plants were in place — a 15-foot square of blue, with an inner circle of white, surrounding red numerals — seven, six.

By Christmas everything was coming up — not roses — but begonias, alyssum and violas.

But nature had a hand in the chain of events, just as it did in the history being celebrated.

First came an early frost, in January, which completely destroyed the begonias. Then, before they could be replaced, an unseasonal drought followed. And with it came a family of deer.

Davis said that the dryness of vegetation in the higher reaches of the hills behind Cal Poly brought three plant-hungry deer into the green zones of the cultivated campus. The animals were first noted eating the pansies behind the administration building. Next they dined on the pansy plot in the quad. Finally, on the third night, having developed a taste for the delicacy, they feasted in the '76 garden and ate every single viola — flower and leaf.

Like his intrepid forefathers of that famous year, Bill Davis was discouraged (slightly amused), but not beaten. He settled back to wait for rain and to contemplate what floral replacements he would make. He also bought some bloodmeal. Knowing that deer do not like its smell, he planned to dust the flower with it. He never had to use the bloodmeal. The rains came, and with the greening of the grass, the deer stayed in their own backyards for dinner. And, much to Davis' surprise,the unplanned pruning of the flowers by the deer resulted in the violas coming back thicker and prettier than they had been before.

So how does your garden grow now? Very well indeed. And Davis calls it his victory garden.

Nutgrass major weed problem in crop areas

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Besides the weeds in your own garden, what is the major weed problem in crop areas of the world? The answer, according to a report a while ago from the University of Missouri, is nutgrass and its closely related species.

Not really a grass, nutgrass is a member of the sedge family that multiplies rapidly in damp places. A description: stems are triangular when cut, leaves are coarse, grass-like and light yellowish-green. In the lawn it generally grows faster than the lawn grasses, and its additional height makes it stand out a few days after mowing. When not cut, it may grow 15 to 30 inches tall and produce a straw-colored seed spike.

The weed spreads via underground tubers (called nutlets) abundantly produced, and by underground rhizomes that produce new plants a few inches from the parent plant. If allowed to form seeds, they spread to new areas, germinating and growing easily.

Here's the Answer

Q. — We soon will be having a house built. My wife and I have agreed on everything except the kind of windows. The builder suggests aluminum-framed windows and I am inclined to agree with him, but my wife insists they be made of wood. She says they look better and, besides, she has heard they provide better insulation. Can you settle this dispute?

A. — No, but I can tell you something about the qualities of each type of window. Your wife is right about wood's insulating qualities being superior to those of aluminum. Because it does not become as cold as metal, moisture vapor from the air does not condense on it. Aluminum, when it is anodized, is virtually free of maintenance. A plain aluminum finish may pit and tarnish, especially in coastal areas. In considering the qualities of both materials, remember that wood can be treated to resist decay and moisture absorption and that aluminum frames can be treated to prevent condensation buildup through a special factory process. What all this adds up to — and why I said the dispute cannot be settled by an outsider — is that personal preference is an important factor. You and your wife should look at many houses with different types of windows, then try to reach an agreement. Whatever kind you choose, select quality, since an extra outlay at the time the house is built will pay dividends over the years.

Q. — There are cracks between some of the boards on our wooden porch. We filled them with wood putty, but in a few months the putty shrank and loosened. How can I solve this problem?

A. — Get some of the oakum caulking sold in marine stores for use on boats. Force it into the cracks, then fill up any spaces with regular caulking compound and paint.

Gardener's checklist

Begin deep watering large shrubs and trees in the landscape. As soon as the weather warms up they will be under stress for water due to lack of rainfall this winter.

Lawns under trees need frequent feedings since the tree takes so many nutrients from the soil for itself. To help reduce lawn mower injury to trees, remove the turf from around the trunk. This will eliminate hand trimming around the trunks.

Yellow leaves on camellias, gardenias, and other shrubs often indicate iron chlorosis. Iron chlorosis can occur when there is sufficient iron in the soil but the pH of the soil makes it unavailable to the plant. To correct this, amend the soil with peat moss and add an acid-producing fertilizer in addition to chelated iron compounds.

Fill in bare spots with cheerful marguerites, zinnias or marigolds.

Keep an eye out for aphids. Your nurseryman can recommend a spray to knock them out fast.

Cactus talk is scheduled for tonight

Kathryn Sabo, member of the Cactus and Succulent Society of Amercia, will speak this evening at 8 in the Garden House at Descanso Gardens, 1418 Descanso Drive, La Canada.

Mrs. Sabo will recount her trip to Barranca de Cobre in the Mexican state of Chihuahua where she discovered a new species of the Mammillaria genus of cacti that now bears her name. Mrs. Sabo will also discuss collecting in Mexico in general and the requirements for a foundation cactus garden.

This will be the last in the winter-spring series of free lectures presented at the gardens of the Department of Arboreta and Botanic Gardens by the Theodore Payne Foundation for Wild Flowers and Native Plants.

Three-in-one project

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Here's a corner group that's as modern as today but with all the comforts of yesterday. We call it the Alltogether because it saves space by combining sleeping, studying and storage areas . . . a three-in-one project. It's ideal for those smaller-size bedrooms in today's tract homes and apartments (about 9 feet by 12 feet).

All sections are built into the room to provide lasting stability while conserving space. They're compact and convenient, too. Nine drawers are located under the bed, with five various-size bins and a large shelf above. At one end of the bed is an "end-table" bookcase/shelf. At the other end there's a desk. It's virtually everything you need in a bedroom. The bed will accommodate a 39-inch by 75-inch mattress. The large triangular shelf at the top of the unit is four feet high. The desk is 30 inches high by 29 inches wide . . . by as long as you want. Plans allow for a five-foot, seven-inch long desk at the front. Some lumber, plywood and a few tools is all you need to complete the job. Our list of materials, step-by-step plan and detailed drawings will guide you all the way.

To obtain the Alltogether Corner Unit Plan 565, send $2 (includes first class postage and immediate handling). Mail your check, cash or money order to:

Vegetable gardens take over for flower gardens

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

More women are making a choice in their backyards between the prize-winning delphinium bed and a vegetable garden. This year growing vegetables is a priority. Fertile land can help cut food bills, and no one wants to be left out.

Suburban farming was once considered a joke with gentlemen farmers confessing that it cost a dollar to grow a green pepper or a potato, but last year a lot of people had the experience of finding a pepper could cost almost that much in stores in some areas. And potato prices skyrocketed.

Starting seeds, building a recreation area and conditioning home grounds have become major interests as the economy sends people back to the soil. Some are roof gardening and others grow whatever they can grow in sunny windows. There are dividends for outdoor workers — a day of toil can whittle the waistline and hips as you bend, twist and yank those weeds. Why pay a gymnasium fee when you can save money harvesting carrots and peas as you shed ounces for free?

Here are some pointers that may prove helpful in the venture:

— Plan the vegetable garden for maximum yield, not only for summer enjoyment but for long term economy by freezing and canning. Plant only as much as you can farm. Rotating a small plot may be far more rewarding than planting a big garden that can become a burden. Too much to handle can be discouraging.

— Grow the vegetables and fruits your family enjoys. Corn stalks take a garden out of horizontal conformity, but if only raccoons eat the corn, this is not the year to worry about the aesthetics. Beans, tomatoes, squash, lettuce, carrots and greens usually provide good yields, a nice assortment of vitamins and minerals. Tomatoes can be a lively challenge. Even sunny apartment windows can be good places to grow tomatoes and lettuce.

— A backyard garden close to the house is a better arrangement than one a good distance away because of the availability of water in case of drought. There may be some difficulty in getting the help needed to weed or to bring water to the far-off garden if it is needed. On chilly, rainy, muddy and very hot days, family helpers keep out of sight unless there is a firm schedule. They will want to munch on the production, but they don't want to do the work.

Some years ago a gardener found an easy way to get family and friends into the gardening act. He prepared a terrace under a shade tree not far from the family garden. Guests would leave their chaise lounge or chair to second-guess the garden and they would never fail to pull some weeds. He had counted on the fact that "most people are busybodies," he said.

Vegetables serve a more useful purpose perhaps than, say, a big flower plot. But a border of flowers and herbs could serve two purposes — provide flowers (if you like marigolds) and discourage bugs. The claim has often been made that marigolds planted next to corn and tomatoes may discourage Japanese beetles. Some people use them to discourage aphids in a rose bed as well as bean beetles.

Even the early colonists used herbs to discourage bugs — tansy, a bitter tasting but aromatic herb, was even used indoors. Thyme is supposed to foil cabbage worm and some people sprinkle salt into the leaves. (One horticulturist uses kosher salt as soon as he sees the first cutworm.) Garlic in a garden has the reputation of being a mouse chaser. Rosemary and a whole list of herbs are said to protect against insects because the insects don't want to be near them.

In addition to using herbs to drive insects off, herbs can be delicious used fresh in salads, soups and whatever. They may also be dried for use throughout the winter.

There are a lot of aspects of vegetable gardening that will stymie new gardeners in the beginning, but a great many books on the subject have been written in recent years. These may be found at libraries and in book stores.

ROLLING STONE

BY DAVE MARSH

LED ZEPPELIN: "Presence" (Swan Song SS 8416).

"Presence," Led Zeppelin's seventh album, represents another step backwards from the promise of the group's fourth and untitled album. That album, which contained the monumental "Stairway to Heaven," and has sold somewhere between 4 and 6 million copies (depending upon whom you ask), was chock full of arresting melodies, imaginative riffs and, surprisingly, even some emotional content, a real first in heavy English guitar rock.

But since then Led Zeppelin has reneged on its promise over and again. The immediate follow-up, "Houses of the Holy," was a straight reprise of the fourth album, without its imagination. Last year's "Physical Graffiti," a two-record set, was simply deadening, too many songs that went on too long and too aimlessly. "Presence" now seems like just another factor in the formula.

The formula itself is not altogether uninteresting. Jimmy Page remains one of the most interesting riffers in the guitar game, and Robert Plant can occasionally reach for some surprising belting vocally. At their best, as on this album's "Nobody's Fault But Mine," Zeppelin are reminiscent of the Yardbirds' empty excursions into the outer reaches of electric guitar possibility, with the added advantage of a good vocalist.

But Zeppelin has one insurmountable flaw, and it mars this album as it has every one they've made. Drummer John Bonham is something like clinically imcompetent. When he and Page riff together, in their a-rhythmic fashion, the results can be effective, if never truly riveting. When Page steps away from him, everything falls apart. Part of the problem is the lifeless way that Bonham's drums are recorded, but a bigger difficulty is that he just can't keep time. They call him Moby Dick, and, like the great white whale, he's dragging a potentially fantastic vessel to the bottom with him. Cut the line, I say.

KISS: "Destroyer" (Casablanca NBLP 7025).

Coupled with Alice Cooper's producer, Bob Ezrin, Kiss have made their best record. It has all the old Cooper ingredients — harmless outrage, well-structured guitar riffs, an aimless but steady beat, anthemic vocal chants. "Flaming Youth" is a son, in fact, that Cooper might well use on his next attempt, if he hasn't given all up for the glories of gold. "Shout It Out Loud" is revitalized New York Dolls, without the irony. Of course, that's a central flaw: Without the irony, what is this stuff? A quick bash and back to the bar, I guess. (P.S. Forget the ballads. Alice Cooper has an approximation of a human voice. These guys have tongues.)

Record drunk?

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Wilson James Smyth, a 47year-old timber cutter, set what police called a record when he registered .40 per cent blood alcohol on a breath analysis machine.

"I think I have a bit of a problem," he told Magistrate S. J. Deer in court at Gympie after being charged this week with driving a car while under the influence of alcohol.

The magistrate fined him $350 and banned him from driving for 15 months.

Government medical officers estimated Smyth's alcohol reading taken at the end of a three-day binge to be equivalent to drinking 122 seven-ounce beers.

Pomona College choir to offer spring concert

The 130-voice Pomona College Choir, conducted by William F. Russell, will present its annual spring concert in Bridges Hall at 3 and 8:15 p.m. Sunday. Also performing will be the college brass ensemble and members of the band and orchestra. Admission is free.

A highlight of the program will be Randall Thompson's "The Peaceable Kingdom," a cycle of seven a cappella choruses on a text from the Book of Isaiah, suggested to the composer by the painting of the same name by the early American artist Edward Hicks. The work calls for constantly shifting choral textures, sometimes from the four-part chorus and sometimes from atiphonal double choruses. It is in large measure responsible for Thompson's reputation as the "dean" of American choral composers.

The college brass sextet will join the choir in performing "Three Descants from Ecclesiastes," a work in three sharply contrasting movements composed in 1957 by Karl Kohn, Pomona College composer-in-residence. The premiere was given by the Pomona choir in 1958 with the composer conducting. It is dedicated to Russell and the choir.

To conclude the concert, members of the band and orchestra will join the choir for the cantata "Frau Musica" by Paul Hindemith, on poems by Martin Luther, to be performed in English translation by Harvey Officer. Vocal solos will be sung by sopranos Mary Hart and Anne McMillan, tenor Dean Stevens and baritone Frank Farris.

The trio sonata in the midst of the work will be played by Edna Sugihara, flute, and Margaret Mudge and Solomon Cera, violins. The text deals with the joys of singing and with the inspiration afforded by the singing of the nightingale.

Musical set at Cal Poly

The Center Theater Group of the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center will present "Guns," a 3-act musical for children, in the University Theater at Cal Poly at 11 a.m. May 1.

"Guns" is designed to give youngsters a better understanding of weapons. The production is one of CTG's Improvisational Theater Projects. Admission is free, but reservations are required.

Los Angeles Times theater critic Dan Sullivan called the play "extraordinary" and predicted that it will become a classic. Sullivan said, " 'Guns' — to relieve parents' minds — is not going to give any child nightmares. The imagery is not violent. There is no gunfire, no stage blood, no falling down. It's clear at all times (much clearer than when people are shooting up people on TV) that this is a pretend-piece, a stage game."

Billed as a play for audiences 10 years and older, "Guns" takes place in 2076 A.D. at a national zoo where six of the most famous guns in captivity are on display. (Guns have been outlawed for 90 years.) They sing, dance and perform special tricks, but refuse to be called killers, because none of them has actually seen a killing. When they seek their freedom from the gun house, they learn more about themselves and their power.

"It is the first time we have done a play that can be called a tragic-comedy," said ITP director John Dennis. "By presenting a complete play we are giving children an idea of what theater is all about — the imagination of the actors, musicians and designers — the show does the full range."

The performance at Cal Poly will be part of the university's annual Poly Vue open house next Friday and going through May 2.

Reservations to "Guns" can be made at 598-4546 or 598-4549.

Other dramatic productions running through Poly Vue include a one-night-only performance of the musical drama "1776" by the Continental Theater Company of Witchita, Kan., in the University Theater next Friday at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the University Union on campus.

Two one-act plays, "Cop-Out" and "Petrified Man," presented by the Cal Poly drama department, will run Poly Vue weekend in the Studio Theater. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Novel to make 4 films

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former actor Tom Tryon must be the envy of his fellow novelists. He has sold his latest book to Universal Pictures for not one, but four movies.

Tryon's new novel is "Crowned Heads," actually four novellas about world-famous figures. Billy Wilder will produce and direct the first, "Fedora," writing the script with his longtime collaborator, I. A. L. Diamong.

Once the star of "The Cardinal" and other movies, Tryon has had more success as an author.

'Man of La Mancha'

VCT presents Broadway musical

By BOB NAGEY

Idealism clashed with realism at the Valley Community Theater Thursday night.

The hero, Don Quixote, dies, but in the end his efforts "to add some measure of grace to the world" prevail in a well produced and sensitive interpretation of "Man of La Mancha."

The musical comedy, based on the life of Miguel de Cervantes and the character he left to the world, will continue Fridays and Saturdays through June 12.

"Man of La Mancha" without doubt is the best VCT production of the year. It is big, it is funny, it is poignant, it keeps you at the edge of your seat, and above all, it is acted with competence so that small miscues such as the use of a rickety bench that forces players to lose their balance are easily overlooked.

The play takes place in a dungeon. Cervantes, a poet-tax collector, finds himself there having levied a tax on the church in the mistaken belief that everybody should pay.

His fellow prisoners try him in a mock kangaroo court before he is summoned to the Inquisition. He bargains for return of his possessions by creating the role of Don Quixote and through him tries to justify his actions. In a series of sketches, the aging 13th century knight in 16th century Spain attempts to "right unbearable wrongs" to bring some meaning to life in the conviction that "true madness is to see the world as it really is."

Among the memorable songs are "The Impossible Dream," "Man of La Mancha," "I'm Only Thinking of Him," "Little Bird, Little Bird," and other gems of the theater

Ed Waterhouse gives an accomplished compelling performance as Don Quixote, though one could wish his singing voice was better. David Bushner plays the lovable sidekick, Sancho Panza, creditably.

But there is no mistaking the true star of the show. Lynda Hershey gives a truly memorable performance as Aldonza, the prostitute, whom Quixote elevates to the role of his lady Dulcinea. Every community theater should have a Lynda Hershey, a talented lady who can not only act, but can belt them out or sing with a finely tuned voice.

While Hershey's performance is not surprising — she has been in a number of good plays, though here she reaches her best — the brief appearance of Andy Case as the Barber — left off the program in error — clowning his way around the stage in a few minutes appearance has the audience in a roar of laughter.

The fine voices of Lynne Lundquist as Antonia, Tom Schultz (also the musical director) as the Padre, and Tina Geer as the Housekeeper, add to the pleasure of listening.

Satisfactory performances also are turned in by Ron Carroll as the governor, Clint Miller as the duke-doctor, Susan Boulanger as Marya, Rochelle Young as Firmina, Mike McCann as Pedro, Richard Frazer as Anselmo, Bob Bennett as Jose, Victor Troxel as Paco, Vin Newborn as Tenorio, and Manny Suarez as captain of the guards.

Smaller roles also were well performed by Kelly Roon, Shea Gibson, and Carl Ziolkowski.

The play is directed by Annette Roon, a graduate of the Pasadena Playhouse. She is assisted by Gene Kohel. Choreography is by Dan Miller and set design is by Margot Andrews.

There is no intermission, and the play starts on time.

'Exorcist' director at work

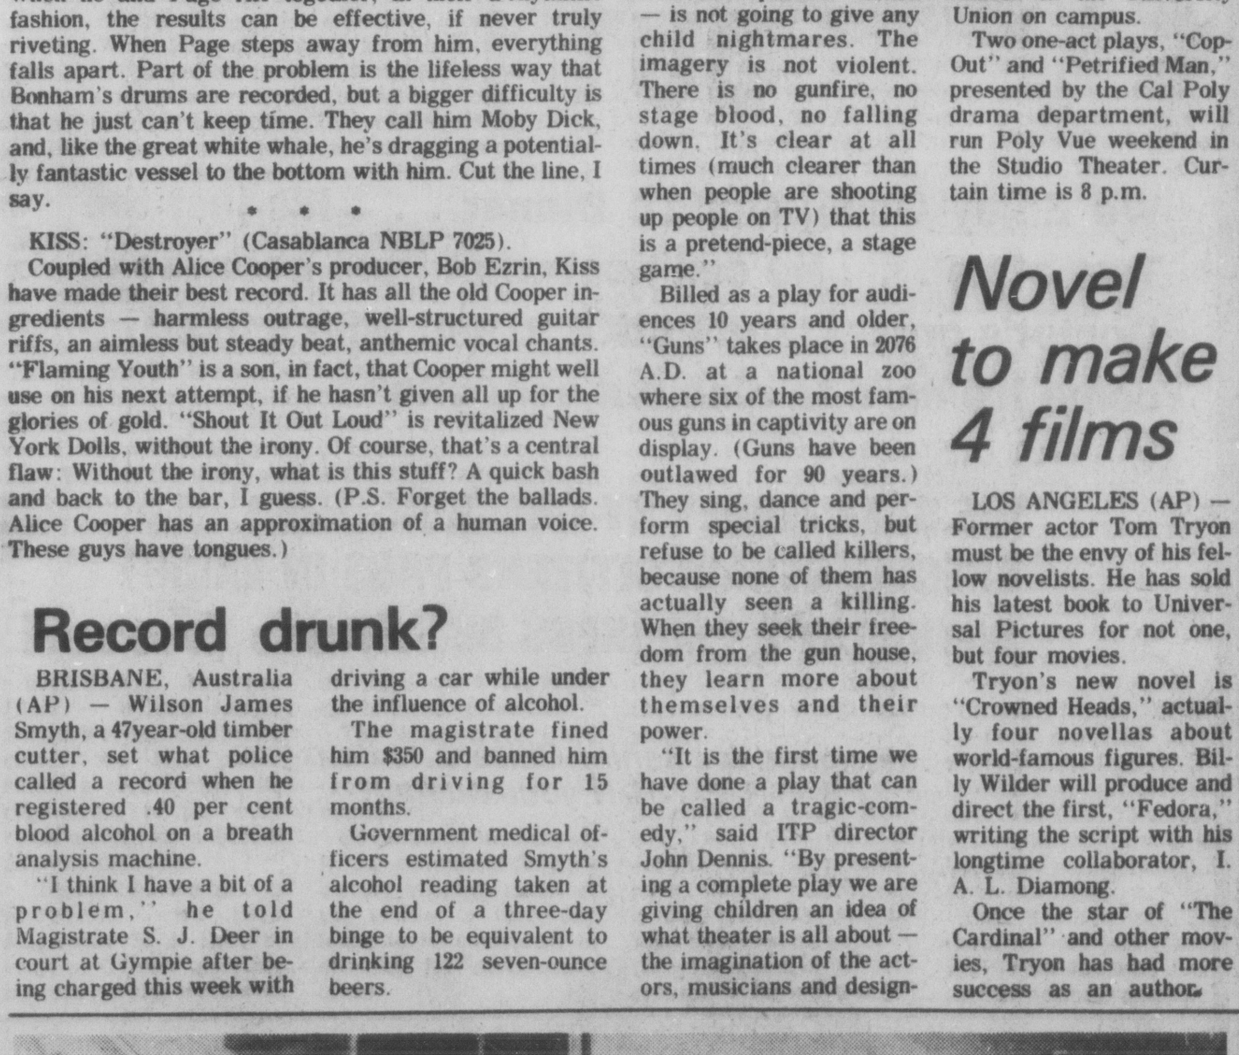
Filming is scheduled to begin in Paris April 6 on "The Sorcerer," described as "a contemporary film of high adventure and suspense in the tradition" of "The Bridge on the River Kwai" and "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre."

Roy Scheider, who appeared in Friedkin's "The French Connection," is starring in the film which is backed Film Properties International, a subsidiary of Cinema International Corp.



BOSTON PLAYERS — The Boston Symphony Chamber Players will present concerts at 8:30 p.m. May 5 and 6 at the Ambassador Auditorium in Pasadena. The group is made up of the principal string, woodwind, brass and percussion players of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The programs will be made up of selections by Mozart, Stravinsky, Beethoven and Schubert.

New Simon comedy bows

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

Neil Simon's first honest-to-goodness written-in-California play, "California Suite," which bowed Thursday night at the Ahmanson of the Los Angeles Music Center, is pretty much like all his honest-to-Gotham plays — "Barefoot in the Park," "The Odd Couple," "Plaza Suite," etc.

One-line gags crackle like Chinese fire crackers; topical allusions abound; putdowns of Southern California pepper the sometimes witty dialogue. ("Los Angeles smells like an overripe cantaloupe.") The playwright also leans heavily on four-letter words for laughs — a sign of desperation.

"California Suite" is made up of four playlets all set in the Beverly Hills Hotel. They are "Visitors from New York," then from "Philadelphia," "London" and "Chicago." All are larded with familiar and obvious jokes about smog, traffic, sex and life styles. ("Californians even drive to their cars!")

The New York episode, the first and most telling of the four, has a divorced couple (Tammy Grimes and George Grizzard) discussing the fate of their high school-age daughter. It is a sparkling, funny and poignant scene, done with warmth and sensitivity. The ensuing program is all down hill.

The Philadelphia bit has wife (Barbara Barrie) finding a hooker in the bed of her husband (Jack Weston). Good sight gags, a lot of throwaways, funny but forgettable.

The London visitors are a British actress nominee for an Academy Award (Tammy Grimes), shrill, offensive, pitiable, and her husband. ("No woman can look good at 6 p.m. except Tatum O'Neal.")

The Chicago connection is a poor travesty of slapstick and pratfalls dragged in to make the theater evening last two hours. It seems a lot longer. What with vaulting vulgarisms and campfire skit histrionics, the episode is a waste of time for Simon, the cast and the viewers.

Grizzard is delightfully witty and debonaire. Weston is a superb comic, fat, foolish and frustrated, and Barbara Barrie is intelligent and spritely in unrewarding parts. It's a good cast.

PRETTY PIANIST — French-born concert pianist Francoise Regnat will be soloist with the Riverside Symphony Orchestra in a concert at the Riverside Municipal Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Lawrence Christianson conducts.

Pianists to play in fete

Two piano students from the Pomona Valley Branch of the Music Teachers Association of California have been chosen to take part in the final event of the Southern California Junior Bach Festival at the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles at 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday.

Chosen as finalists from the regional recital held March 21 at Scripps College are Faith Seetoo, pupil of Marion Stone, and Steve Curtis, pupil of Audrey Grigsby. Four students received honorable mention: James Bullington, pupil of Yvonne Gordon; Doug Stewart, pupil of Kathy Voss; David Brown, pupil of Marguerite Green and Paul Baskett, pupil of Barbara Middleton.

The Bach Festival, sponsored by MTAC, is an annual event.

Ball court

According to archeologists, the earliest known ball court in the world has been found in the ancient Indian city of Tollan, 50 miles north of Mexico City.

Cash family to play at Anaheim Center

Johnny Cash, "king of country-western music," and the Cash Family will perform at the Anaheim Convention Center at 7:30 p.m. May 9.

The troupe includes his singing star-spouse, June Carter Cash; brother Tommy Cash; the Carter Family, headed by Mother Maybelle; Rosie Lawhead, a Cash daughter and The Tennessee Three.

Cash recently made a hurried trip from the Bahamas to Hollywood where he was honored with a star in the "Walk of Fame" on Hollywood Boulevard.

Many Cash fans were on hand to witness the ceremony.

Cash has received many top awards. He has been selected Entertainer of the Year on three occasions by the Country Music Association of America. In commenting on his Hollywood star, he said that he valued the honor as highly as any he had received for it denoted the affection and esteem of his West Coast fans.

Tickets are now available at the box office and local agencies. Admission is $8, $7 and $6.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

Did you happen to catch the TV special Tuesday night about restaurants called "Mr. Rooney Goes To Dinner"? I found it interesting, informative and thanks to Rooney's style, entertaining. AND it was timely, for me at least. I, too, have some questions about the restaurant business, but the answers have to come from YOU rather than from restaurant people.

SO, I'm asking your help on a little survey I'm making. At the bottom of this column you'll find a little questionnaire I'd like you to fill out. Fill out the bottom part, too, because three of you will win a free dinner for two! That's right. You give us some information and we'll include you in a drawing for THREE FREE DINNERS FOR TWO, compliments of the Progress Bulletin. Rules and other information is in the questionnaire. So read it over, fill it out, and bring it in or mail it to the Prog. You might win a free dinner for TWO!

Last Saturday night found me at the Beef 'n Barrel restaurant on Indian Hill in Claremont. Some time ago Jim Haidet, manager up there invited me to drop in to eat when I got the chance. The chance came last week and, besides checking out the good reports I've had on the food there, I wanted to catch the new act that just opened in their lounge last week, The Burgans.

I enjoy a salad bar; there's something casual and relaxing about it. Beef 'n Barrel's salad bar is inviting, their split pea soup is excellent, and my steak was satisfying. I found the service there attentive, the atmosphere relaxing and visually pleasant.

The Burgans are comprised of four youngsters, the nucleus being Jerry and Debbie Burgan. I stayed through their second set, and was impressed with their act, particularly their vocals, a real strength in this group. Tholow Chan, a recent addition to the group, plays bass guitar and fills in their vocal sound with his mellow bass voice. Drummer is Ron Schwartz. The Burgans got the audience involved, and from where I sat, everyone seemed to enjoy the performance. Their laughter, humor and enthusiasm was contagious. I enjoyed my evening at the Beef 'n Barrel.

Incidentally, Jerry Burgan is a Pomona High graduate who formed a folk-rock group several years back which had a million-selling record. The group was named We Five (remember?) and their hit song was "You Were On My Mind." You'll remember it when you hear it. Go in and ask them to sing it for you.

NEWS 'N NOTES

. . . David Gaba, new manager of the Claremont Depot, has a new duo playing in the lounge these days. The Ploung Bros., Mike and Dale, play there Tuesdays through Saturdays.

. . . Peter Cheung opened his new restaurant, The Islanders, last week. Formerly The Jade Palace, the 4620 Holt Blvd. restaurant has been cleaned up, remodeled a bit, and returned to Oriental form with Cantonese and Polynesian cuisine.

. . . Pic-a-Dilly family restaurant stepped right in where Betsy Ross left off at Indian Hill Village. Pic-a-Dilly owner Doug Canada took over the spot last Monday morning after Betsy's last day of business in that location last Saturday.

. . . Ponderosa Club is hosting a benefit for country music's Billy Jo Tucker of El Monte this Sunday, April 25. Ralph Hicks, owner of the Ponderosa, reports that more than 45 country musicians have signed on for the affair to benefit Billy Jo, waylaid by a kidney ailment which keeps him on a dialysis machine. Artists include Eddie Jo Downs, Howdy Glen, Ronnie Rhors, Bill Webb, Werely Fairburn and many others. Time is 1:00 to 7:00 pm this Sunday.

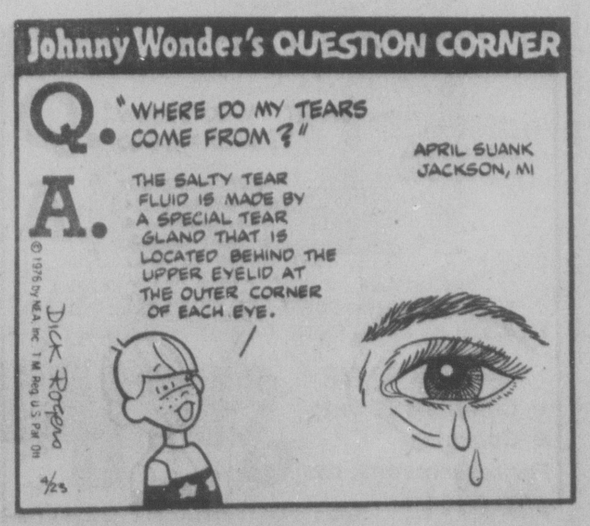
JOHNNY WONDER



Do you know that there are tears in your eyes all the time — even when you are not crying? Your eyes are being washed constantly. They are bathed by a salty fluid we call tears.

The tears come from tiny sacs, or tear glands, that are located in the outer corner of each eye. Every time you blink, the eyelids bring down drops of tears from the tear glands.

The tears help to wash away dust and other foreign matter and to keep the eyes healthy.

The tears do another thing, too. They help keep the eyes from drying out. The amount of tears is so small that they collect in the corners of the eyes and flow out through special openings into your nose.

But when you cry, muscles in your eyelids tighten and squeeze the tear fluid out of the tear glands.

Then the tears flow too fast to be drained away. So they spill over your eyelids and run down your cheeks. The same thing may happen if you laugh too heartily.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Poll shows Tunney keeping wide margin over Hayden

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Incumbent John Tunney is maintaining a wide lead over challenger Tom Hayden for the Democratic U.S. senatorial nomination, a statewide public opinion poll has reported.

Sen. Tunney is preferred by 58 per cent of the 611 rank-andfile Democrats surveyed in late March by the California Poll. Hayden, a former student activist, is favored by 15 per cent.

The poll said the 58-15 ratio is the same as found in three previous surveys going back to last August.

Twenty-nine per cent of the latest survey said they either supported a minor candidate or had not yet decided on a candidate.

Kings' rally sends series back to Boston

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

INGLEWOOD — It doesn't pay to write off the Los Angeles Kings.

It certainly looked like the hockey season would soon be over in L.A. Thursday night when the favored Boston Bruins enjoyed a 3-1 lead over the Kings with 10 minutes left in the sixth game of the quarter-final Stanley Cup series at the Forum.

But the capacity crowd of 16,005 witnessed the greatest moments of the National Hockey League franchise when the Kings fought back on two Mike Corrigan goals to tie it and win it in sudden death overtime on Butch Goring's 30-foot shot at 18:28 of the overtime period.

Thanks to the clutch 4-3 victory, the Kings have renewed confidence entering the seventh and climatic game in the series at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Boston Garden.

KTLA (Channel 5) will telecast Sunday's game live.

It can also be safely said that the Kings have got the momentum while the Bruins enjoy the home ice advantage.

"We feel real good about going to Boston," Goring said. "It's a one game thing. Anything can happen and we'll be going all out."

Kings Coach Bob Pulford was full of praise for the way his team battled back from what looked like certain defeat.

"I can't say enough about this club," Pulford exclaimed. "They played their hearts out. That we were down two goals and came back the way we did makes me very proud of them."

Again, the Forum crowd played a major part in the victory.

There is no Los Angeles sports crowd that is as vocal as the true hockey buffs.

Even the national anthem was held up when the fans gave their hometown heroes a 4½-minute standing ovation. When Corrigan tied the game with 2:12 left in regulation play, the roof practically caved in with the noise.

After all that, it wasn't surprising what the reaction was when Goring won the game. Not only did the fans erupt but so did his King teammates. Goring was carried off the ice when the fans remained standing, whistling and stomping.

"The crowd was just great," Corrigan said. "I've never seen or heard a crowd like that in any other place I've played. It gave goose bumps to all of us and I think the fans were a big reason why we didn't quit even when we trailed by two goals."

After Boston scored three goals in the second period, the Bruins decided to play with caution and the decision turned out to cost them.

Corrigan got the Kings back into the game at 3-2 when he deflected a shot by Marcel Dionne from 30 feet out past goalie Gerry Cheevers.

His tying goal went into the net off the stick of Cheevers, who was pulled out of position on the play.

Boston Coach Don Cherry was disappointed that his Bruins gave the puck away in their own end frequently. "When you make mistakes it will cost you," he said.

Boston had a golden opportunity six minutes into the overtime when the Kings' Neil Komadoski was handed a two-minute penalty for hooking Dave Forbes, who was racing in on a breakaway.

But the Kings and goalie Rogie Vachon held off the Bruins until Goring scored his second overtime goal in the deadlocked series.

Goring, who took a pass from Bob Nevin and Bob Murdoch, skated in on Cheevers and unloaded a 30-foot slap shot which hurtled into the upper corner of the net.

After a scoreless first period, the Kings jumped ahead when Tommy Williams blasted a 50-foot slap shot 21 seconds into the second period.

But Boston tied it 39 seconds later as Bobby Schmautz skated around Los Angeles defenseman Larry Brown to score. The Bruins added goals by Darryl Edestrand and Gregg Sheppard later in the period to take what appeared to be a comfortable lead.

Even though the Kings have plenty of momentum, Boston still must be regarded the favorite based on its 7-1 win Tuesday.

"We worked all year to get this home ice advantage in the playoffs," Cherry said. "We lost only once at home in our last 30 games. We'll be ready for them."

Considering the way the Forum fans have been so far, what would happen if the Kings won the Stanley Cup?

If L.A. wins Sunday, it will advance to the semifinals against Montreal or the New York Islanders. Either way, the first two games would be on the road.

IT'S A STEAL — Marcel Dionne of the Kings (L) steals puck from Boston's Don Marcotte Thursday night. Goalie Rogie Vachon is at right. Kings won 4-3 in overtime to tie NHL series at 3-3.

Another title for Hines, Leos

Although it isn't yet a mathematic certainty, Ben Hines has wrapped up another SCIAC baseball title at La Verne College.

The Leos (10-2) still have six games to play. But Claremont-Mudd and Whittier, tied for second at 10-5, each have only three games.

The Leopards have three each with Caltech (1-11) and Redlands (7-8). They'll sweep the Engineers and should win at least two of three from the Bulldogs.

Even if they should lose all three to Redlands, they still would win the championship because they won two of three from the Stags and all three from the Poets.

Caltech did have one good pitcher, Ed Ray. But Ray twisted his knee as the Engineers dropped two games at Oxy last Saturday.

He was unable to play Tuesday and when another player had a committment elsewhere, the Engineers had to forfeit to the Tigers.

When La Verne beat C-M Tuesday, it marked the 405th career victory for Hines against 216 losses. The fiery Leo coach is in his 16th season at La Verne.

Hines sparks rise

Under Hines, La Verne has become nationally recognized as a small college baseball power. Since 1969, the Leopards have won one national title, finished second once and third twice.

In the same span, 25 La Verne players have gone on to play professional baseball.

Hines himself played professional baseball in the Baltimore Orioles' organization. He'll manage at Bluefield, W. Va. for the Birds this summer. Another local coach, Art Mazmanian of MSAC, will be managing the Pulaski, Va. club for the Orioles in the same (Applachian) league.

It is hard to imagine La Verne a loser. But in Hines' first year, 1960, the Leopards posted a 3-25 record! The next year they were 15-14 and Hines' only losing season since was in 1968 when La Verne won 16 but lost 20.

Since 1968, Hines' teams have won 262 games while losing only 107. His best year season was 1972 when the Leos posted a 44-9 mark and won the NAIA National Championship.

This year they will again be a strong contender in the District Playoffs May 13, 14 and 15.

The Leopards, after a slow start, have apparently jelled. The hitting has improved a great deal as has the fielding. Because eight of the 10 starters are new, it took some tinkering on Hines' part to put the pieces together.

Burzette moves up

Tim Burzette won the catcher's job after a strong bid by John Edwards. Burzette kept moving up in the lineup until he finally became the Leos' leadoff hitter.

The 5-11, 180-pound sophomore from Arizona St. has a 24-game hitting going. He currently is batting .438 for the season and the Leos are batting .321 as a team.

Edwards, the husky transfer from Sacramento City College, was used as designated hitter and backup catcher at first. But with no spot left for Ralph Valadez' big bat, Edwards (.372) was put at first base making room for Valadez.

But the biggest switch, the one that enabled the infield to start clicking was the insertion of Montclair's Pat Proulx into the lineup.

Proulx, who was with the Leos last year, first was inserted at second base where he and shortstop Steve Watson proved to be a good double play combo.

But Hines' decided to reverse the pair's positions. With Watson at second and Proulx at short, the infield of Steve Polan at third, Proulx, Watson and Edwards is one of the best in small college baseball.

The Leos have turned over 32 double plays to date. And Proulx has upped his average to .353.

John Laubhan has been Hines' most pleasant surprise at the plate. The San Jose St. transfer won the left field position because of his strong hitting and his .374 average proved the choice was right. With the Leopards hitting and fielding solidly, the only question mark at this point, is the pitching. Hines is deep in pitching. But so far it has not been as strong as anticipated.

The staff earned run average is 4.08. Jim Vallone (3.13) and Paul McGuire (2.28) are the only pitchers under 4.00 and their ERA has been climbing of late.

Top local preps in action today will include Pomona's Hank Zibell in the shot put; Garey's Stan Webster and Greg Garrett, Ganesha's Floyd Eddings and Montclair's Mike Gray in the long jump; Ganesha's Lloyd Jones and Pomona's Ernest Jarnigan in the 110-meter high hurdles; Garey's Cole, Ganesha's Eddings and Pomona's Terry Andrews and possibly Jim Donaldson in the 200-meter race and Claremont's Kelly Gordien in the high jump.

Junior college and college events were contested earlier today.

Saturday's opening ceremonies are scheduled for 1:30 p.m., with the bulk of the invitational events packed between 1:45 p.m. and 4 p.m.

The decathlon will begin Saturday and be completed Sunday.

Rau ready to go now

HOUSTON (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers lefthander Doug Rau feels that his conditioning period is over and he is eager to start racking up the victories.

Rau, a former Texas A&M star, got a good head start Thursday night as the Dodgers defeated the Houston Astros 7-2.

Rau shut out the Astros over the first six innings before running into trouble in the seventh.

"Spring training is over and now is the time to get it together," said Rau, now 2-0. "I've gone six inning three times now and I feel good.

"A lot of good things happened. We played a good defensive game and (Joe) Ferguson's home run showed his timing may be coming back."

While Los Angeles was putting things together, Astros pitchers ran into trouble as the Dodgers put the game away in the early innings.

John Hale's single followed a fielder's choice and a stolen base by Ferguson to put the Dodgers ahead 1-0 in the second inning. Two innings later Ferguson's first home run of the season, a two-run blast off loser Joaquin Andujar, 0-2, staked the Dodgers to a 3-0 lead.

That margin was doubled in the fifth as Los Angeles loaded the bases with one out on walks to Rau and Bill Buckner and a single by Ted Sizemore off Andujar.

Jose Sosa relieved Andujar and Dusty Baker greeted him with a two-run single. The inning's final run scored on the same play as Enos Cabell threw in the dirt at third attempting to nip Sizemore.

Eighth-inning doubles by Hale and Buckner accounted for the final Los Angeles run.

"We had a good spring and everybody worked hard, but we haven't got any good pitching until the last two games," said Dodgers Manager Walter Alston.

"We have had our opportunities but when you are going bad you wind up losing more than you should."

Rau, who struck out six and allowed seven of Houston's hits, surrendered a double to Leon Roberts and an RBI single to Larry Milbourne in the seventh.

Walks to Roger Metzger and pinch-hitter Jerry DaVannon then loaded the bases with no outs but Mike Marshall relieved and retired the next three batters without allowing a run.

Cliff Johnson's solo homer in the eighth inning provided the other Houston run as Marshall picked up his third save of the season. He has saved all three Dodger victories.

The loss knocked Houston out of first place by percentage points in the National League West Division.

DODGER DATA — The Dodgers open a 10-game homestand tonight against the Chicago Cubs (7:30 p.m.).

It's Ball Night and Dodger baseballs will be given to all youngsters 14 and under.

Burt Hooton (0-2) and Ray Burris (0-2) are tonight's pitchers. Don Sutton (0-3) faces Bill Bonham (1-1) Saturday night (7 p.m.) and Sunday Rick Rhoden (1-0) opposes an as yet unnamed Cub hurler.

Second baseman Davey Lopes, who played only four exhibition games before pulling a rib cage muscle, still hasn't been able to take batting practice.

MSU coach is surprised

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Jud Heathcote, recently appointed Michigan State University basketball coach, seemed somewhat surprised that there were some 50 reporters at his inaugural news conference recently.

"When I started at Montana," he said, "they had a press conference for me. He and I got along just fine."

Davila opens Forum card

INGLEWOOD — Wednesdays boxing card at the Forum will get under way at 8 p.m. with the bantamweight 10-rounder between Alberto Davila of Pomona and Mexico City's Raul Tirado.

Following will be the four rounder between female middleweights Patricia Pineda and Kim Maybee.

The feature event, Danny (Little Red) Lopez vs. Famoso Gomez will be next, scheduled for a 9:30 start.

Closing out the four main- event program will be Petrolero Macias vs. Tony Gonzalez and Renato Garcia vs. Jeff Morgan. Both bouts are middleweight 10-rounders.

L.B. Grand Prix gets green light

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Grand Prix West, despite operating losses totalling nearly $600,000, has a tentative green light to be held April 3, 1977.

A spokesman for the Sports Car Club of America, headquartered in Denver, said Thursday there is no current problem that would prevent the 1977 race from taking place, "but all the prize money has to be in escrow before we can permit the race to be run again."

Although official sanction of the race's international listing can't be granted until July at the earliest, action taken by the Long Beach City Council last week apparently insures at least one more running of the Formula I race over the 2.02-mile city street course.

Murray T. Courson, city auditor, told The Associated Press the city "is interested in retaining the event, and increasing its involvement in planning and staging of the race."

Courson said the Long Beach Grand Prix Association will be permitted to defer $120,000 owed the city for use of streets, security and other arrangements over the next three years, with about seven per cent interest tacked on. The Long Beach Convention and News Bureau is also authorized to loan the LBGPA $135,000 to cover administrative expenses for next year's race.

In return, the LBCNB and city will get increased control of the event to protect their financial interests.

Meanwhile, the city is requiring the LBGPA to raise $400,000 immediately from private sources to pay off other existing debts.

An independent audit of the LBGPA following the March 28 Formula I race found attendance figures, announced by the organizers, of 72,000 on race day and 147,000 for the entire three-day weekend of activity to be grossly inaccurate. Actual paid attendance, the audit showed, was 44,461 for the race and 77,000 for the weekend.

Free passes, "sneak-ins," and residents of the area the course encompassed brought total attendance to about 90,000, the audit determined.

A Formula 5000 race on the Long Beach course in 1975 lost $305,000, Courson said. Of that total $180,000 was owed the city "and that has been paid," he added.

The AP had earlier quoted sources as saying the LBGPA would be more than $400,000 in the red after the Formula I race, and also discounted the announced crowd figures.

Christopher R. Pook, head of the LBGPA, had responded, "there is no way we lost money, in fact we probably made a few pennies." He termed the AP report "absolute rot."

He was not available for comment on the discrepancy of earlier announced figures.

Leafs' Sittler scores 5 goals

By Associated Press

When Darryl Sittler breaks out of a slump, he does it in style.

The 25-year-old captain of the Toronto Maple Leafs hadn't scored in eight previous playoff games this season. The Philadelphia Flyers wish he had made it nine.

As it was, Sittler rammed in a record-tying five goals in leading the Maple Leafs to an 8-5 quarter-final victory over the Flyers in another rough National Hockey League battle that saw a record 185 minutes of penalties assessed.

"I feel lucky," Sittler said after adding an assist to finish with six points, tying another playoff mark. "I don't know how I did it, but I can assure you I went out to win the hockey game, not to set any records."

The Toronto victory knots the best-of-seven series at 3-3 and sends the two teams back to Philadelphia for the decisive contest.

"We haven't won there in five years and we're due for a win," Sittler said.

In other NHL games Thursday, the New York Islanders edged Buffalo 3-2 to win their quarter-final series 4-3 and Los Angeles scored a tension-packed 4-3 triumph over Boston in sudden-death overtime.

"Every time this team has its back to the wall we seem to come up big," said Sittler. "We seem to react psychologically when we play in Philadelphia because of the fans, but I think in a sudden-death game anything can happen."

Thursday's contest was "sudden-death" for the Maple Leafs...and everything happened.

Sittler scored once in the opening period, three goals in the second and added his fifth in the third period. That tied the record set by Maurice "Rocket" Richard against the Leafs on March 3, 1944.

And Sittler's assist on Toronto's final goal gave him six points, tying him with the record set by Dickie Moore of the Montreal Canadiens against the Boston Bruins on March 25, 1954, and tied by Phil Esposito, then with Boston, against the Leafs on April 2, 1969.

Toronto Coach Red Kelly said Sittler was due to break out of his scoring slump. "We were hoping, and we knew it was only a matter of time before he'd come up big for us."

Sittler's had higher scoring games, but never a bigger game. On Feb. 2, he scored six goals and added four assists against Boston to break a NHL regular-season single-game record.

The third-period fight ended with a double game misconduct given to Philadelphia's Dave Schultz and a minor, major, 10-minute misconduct and a game misconduct to Toronto's Dave Williams.

Islanders 3, Sabres 2

Clark Gillies scored at 5:58 of the third period to give New York its victory over the Sabres as the Islanders captured their quarter-final series four games to two. The victory was the Islanders' fourth straight. Jude Drouin and Eddie Westfall scored the other Islanders' goals while Gil Perreault and Jerry Korab tallied for Buffalo. Perreault's tally was spectacular as he split Dave Lewis and Bert Marshall, then faked New York goalie Billy Smith to the left, putting the puck past Smith's right side and into the net.

Sandy Hawley wins four at Hollypark

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Sandy Hawley rode winners in the first two races to capture both ends of the $35.20 daily double Thursday and went on to win the third and seventh races as well.

Hawley also came close to capturing the feature race aboard Just a Kick, but longshot Lady By Choice rallied in the final stages to edge Just a Kick by a neck.

Jockey Dan Pierce was aboard Lady By Choice in the six furlong feature for 4-year-old-and-up fillies and mares. She paid $34.20, $6.80 and $3.20. Just a Kick paid $3.00 and $2.20, and the show horse, Copying, who finished 1½ lengths back, paid $2.40.

In the first race, Hawley guided Marvelous Marsh to a 1½ length victory for a $9.20, $5.20 and $3.80 payoff. Autocracy completed the daily double win, finishing one-half length in front of the field in the second race for an $8, $4 and $3 payoff.

For his third straight win, Hawley was aboard Bank Me in a 3½ length win. Bank Me paid $5, $2.80 and $2.60. In the seventh race, Deck Folly finished 2½ lengths in front of longshot Lady Lunar to pay $6, $3.40 and $2.40. Pierce was in the irons on Lady Lunar, and he won the ninth race on Timonema, paying $6.80, $4.20 and $3.

MSAC's title hopes dim

Mt. San Antonio College has painted itself into a corner in the South Coast Conference baseball race.

The Mounties dropped a 4-3 decision to visiting Santa Ana College Thursday, thus falling two full games behind SCC leader Cerritos.

The Falcons, riding the crest of a 12-game winning streak, are now 10-2 in the SCC. MSAC stands at 8-4 and Santa Ana 7-5 with six conference games remaining on the schedule. The other four SCC entries are out of contention for the title.

MSAC out-hit the Dons 13-7 Thursday, but some key fielding lapses and lack of the clutch basehit spelled the Mounties' doom.

Santa Ana scored the winning runs with two away in the top of the ninth off MSAC relief hurler Dave Melton. Melton, who came on in relief of starter Ron Roenicke in the seventh and looked impressive in retiring eight straight Santa Ana Batters, walked Don Jim Gardea on a three-two pitch with two down in the ninth.

Gardea, representing the tieing run, promptly stole second. Melton got ahead on the next batter, Steve Till, but Till slapped a 1-2 pitch into rightfield, sending Gardea streaking towards home.

The Mounties had a play at the plate, but rightfielder Joe Koval's throw was wide and sailed past catcher Val Primante as Gardea scored easily. Till, running all the way, set sail for third when the throw got past Primante.

The Mountie backstop scrambled after the ball and fired to third in an attempt to nip Till, but his toss hit the sliding Till and wound up in short leftfield as Till got up and crossed home plate with the winning tally.

Until the surprising Santa Ana uprising, the Mounties appeared to have the win salted away. The Dons started ace righthander Greg Johnson on the hill, but he allowed singles to Ron Roenicke and Tracy Cowger with two outs in the first.

That brought up MSAC first baseman Danny Gans, and he promptly wacked a fly to deep right. Santa Ana rightfielder Craig Hedrick backpedaled all the way to the rightfield barrier, leaped, but had the ball hit his glove and bounce over the fence for a three-run homer.

Forrest Brown and Larry Marsh followed with singles, and that was it for Johnson. Don coach Jim Reach called upon lefty Gary Gerber, and all Gerber did was blank the Mounties for the next eight and one-third innings to pick up the win.

Actually, the Mounties had a number of shots at Gerber but could not come up with the clutch hit. They wound up stranding 10 runners in the contest, including two in the last of the ninth.

In that inning, Brian Menasco and Koval socked singles with two away, raising hopes for a Mountie comback. However, with runners on first and third, Roenicke skied out to deep left to end the exciting contest.

Santa Ana was kept at bay by starter Roenicke until the sixth, when two MSAC errors and a Roenicke balk contributed to two Don scores and made it a tight 3-2 contest.

Singles by John Nastasi and Ronnie Perez in that inning, combined with a walk to Don Jackson and two MSAC errors in the infield, netted the scores. Roenicke balked home Nastasi with the first S.A. run and Perez scored as first sacker Gans dropped a throw at first on what would have been the third out of the inning.

Thursday's result puts the Mounties and Dons into a must-win situation if they hope to catch the powerful Cerritos nine. MSAC must now win all its games in the third and final round of SCC play and hope that someone else can beat the Falcons at least once.

The Mounties, now 20-7-1 on the year, will be traveling south on Saturday, as they will meet Grossmont in a single game at noon. Kevin Chapman is expected to get the starting call for coach Art Mazmanian's crew.

Following that game, the Mounties host a SCC showdown with frontrunner Cerritos Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Bob Veselic will get the starting call in that contest.

Mission race heating up

Northern Division leader Citrus was edged by visiting San Bernardino Valley College by a 4-3 score, cutting the Owls' division lead to only one game over SBVC and Chaffey.

The Panthers stayed close by blanking Riverside City College 2-0.

An unearned run in the top of the eighth gave San Bernardino a 4-2 lead, and the Owls could get no closer than 4-3 thereafter. Citrus was its own worst enemy, as the hosts stranded 14 baserunners off of three Indian hurlers. SBVC ace Kevin Stanfield came on to pitch the ninth to ice the win.

Citrus is now 12-4 in conference and 20-7 overall. SBVC and Chaffey are only a game back in the Mission standings with 11-5 marks.

Owl hurler Gene Marzo pitched a five-hitter but still absorbed the loss. Only earned runs off the Citrus righthander were on Dan Whitmar's two-run homer in the fourth inning.

Chaffey rallied for two runs in the seventh inning to break up a pitchers' duel between Kenny Shea and RCC's Joe Presiado. Shea finished with a five-hitter, fanning five and walking three. The Panthers supported his hurling with a flawless game afield.

RCC threatened to score only once, and that was in the fourth inning as Gary Rasmussen led off the frame with a triple. However, Shea bore down to retire two RCC batters on infield grounders, Rasmussen holding third, and got the final out of the inning on a pop up.

The Chaffey runs came in the seventh, as with one out George Bjorkman and Murray Daniels were issued free passes by hurler Presiado. Bob Branchetti followed with a ground single to center, Bjorkman scoring and Daniels taking third. When the RCC second baseman mishandled the relay from the outfield, Daniels was able to scamper home with the second and final Panther score.

The win upped the Chaffey season mark to 17-11.

The two local entries in the Mission Conference will return to action Saturday afternoon. Citrus will travel to Riverside while Chaffey will take on Southern Division leader Saddleback. Both those games are slated for 1 p.m. starts.

Saint spikers coast

By TIM CLARK
PB Correspondent

San Dimas High notched its fourth Hacienda league victory in spike action this year by coasting over an undermanned (literally) Bonita squad Thursday afternoon at the Saint track, 90½ to 19½.

The Saints were paced by Fred Carter and Phil Lough, who captured their speciality events (the sprints and the hurdles, respectively). The lone individual triumph for Bonita came in the mile, with Mike Green copping and the honors.

Carter, a junior, breezed his way through both the 100 (10.3) and the 220 (23.7). Fred, if you remember, was the Hacienda league Frosh-Soph 100 champion a year ago, blazing his way to the gold with a 10.0 dash..

Lough, a senior, could have crawled his way to winning the 120 highs and the 330 lows. With no Bonita competition, Lough finished with a modest 16.2 in the highs and a 41.4 in the lows. Phil also tried his first 100 yard dash of the season, and got a second behind Carter with a 10.7.

Green had to hold off a "last-kick" effort by the Saints' Perry LaMont in order to win the mile. The bespectacled All-Leager wound up with a 4:30.5 mark. Green did not compete in the two mile, however, and LaMont captured the day's longest race with a 9:52.2.

"Considering today's bad weather and the Easter-week layoff, I thought that we did very well," commented Saint head coach Mel Hawkins. "What really pleases me though, is the way my young kids have done the job this year. I just couldn't be happier, they work hard and they're good kids." The San Dimas JV squad, which is undefeated this year, smashed the Bearcats 89-0. The Frosh-Soph Saints edged Bonita 59-58 by winning the mile relay.

In looking for a spice of excitement, one would have to say that the Varsity 440 relay proved to be interesting.

In approaching the final anchor exchange, the clubs were within five yards of one another, with San Dimas' Dennis Moore holding a slight advantage over Bonita's Duane Tims. But Moore and anchor-man Carter could not make a clean hand-off, and the Saints baton wound up on the ground behind both San Dimas sprinters.

So it seemed as if Bonita had picked up a gift victory when Tony Wilson sailed across the finish line. But Bonita wound up being disqualified also, as a judge pointed out that the Bearcats' lead-off runner, Jim Franks, had passed the baton TOO EARLY to partner Alex Adams.

The Bearcat relay team provided over half the team's squad members. Hard-luck mentor Walt Altobelli has seen his troops dwindle down to a mere seven!

Rowe is near perfect

By The Associated Press

Everything went right for Curtis Rowe—and everything went wrong for the Golden State Warriors.

"That was probably the best game he ever played in his life," Bob Lanier said after watching his Detroit teammate tear up the Warriors in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Golden State Coach Al Attles called it "an all-pro performance" after watching Rowe score 33 points, grab 10 rebounds, collect three assists and make three steals in Detroit's 123-111 victory over the Warriors Thursday night.

The shockingly easy victory forged a 1-1 tie for Detroit in the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinals.

"It was just one of those games when everything went right," said Rowe. "It's hard to stop a team when that is happening."

The near-perfect game made up for Tuesday night's 127-103 loss to Golden State in the series opener.

"We were completely disorganized Tuesday night," said Detroit Coach Herb Brown. "We ran our offense tonight. That's all there is to it. You've got to out-execute people to win in this league. On defense, we saw on films we were giving them the driving lanes Tuesday night. We took them away in this game. We copied Golden State's defense, is what we did."

In another playoff game, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Washington Bullets 92-91 and took a 3-2 lead in their Eastern Conference semifinals. In tonight's action, the Boston Celtics, holding a 1-0 lead, host the Buffalo Braves in an Eastern semifinal series.

In the other Western Conference semifinal, the Phoenix Suns, leading 3-1, meet the SuperSonics Sunday in Seattle.

Rowe scored 17 of his points in the opening period when the Pistons shot 74 per cent from the field but could take only a 39-37 lead. The Detroit forward had 13 points in the third quarter when his team built a 15-point lead.

Bob Lanier, the Pistons' muscular center, totaled 31 points, hitting 10 of 15 shots from the floor, mostly on outside jump shots. Rowe made 12 of 16 field goal attempts.

Rick Barry was Golden State's top scorer with 27 points but had only five points—all foul shots—in the second half.

Cavaliers 92, Bullets 91

Jim Cleamons laid in a rebound with one second left to give Cleveland its victory over Washington. The game, played before 21,312—the largest crowd ever to see an NBA playoff game and the biggest home crowd in Cleveland history— was close all the way. Neither team led by more than seven points at any time.

Tarkanian eager for NCAA probe

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Jerry Tarkanian, controversial basketball coach at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, says he welcomes an investigation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

"I'm extremely anxious to get this out in the open," Tarkanian said today in an interview. "I think the investigation will vindicate me and my players."

Tarkanian said he could not comment on the substance of the probe now under way. He said the school has received a list of 70 questions from the NCAA and is now in the process of preparing its answers.

The NCAA has been investigating the Rebels' basketball program for more than three years now and a hearing by the infractions committee will be held after the university files its answers. The university will be represented at the hearing, expected this summer, and Tarkanian said he is eager for the chance to defend himself.

"I've never had any hearings, never had a chance to face them," he said. "They did the same thingto me at Long Beach and I never got a chance to have a hearing."

Tarkanian said he has been trying for more than three years to get the NCAA investigation opened up.

"I've offered to go back east at my own expense," he said. "We have asked them specifically, 'hey, if you've got any allegations, get it out in the open.' They kept putting it off and finally they gave us this list of questions. I'm really pleased it's gotten to this point. I think the hearing will remove the cloud that's been over my head for years now."

Tarkanian formerly coached the Long Beach State basketball team before coming here and compiling a tremendously successful record with the Rebels.

Hearings slated on deer hunts

Public hearings on special deer hunts recommended by the Department of Fish and Game will be held in three Southland counties next week. Hearings in two additional counties will be held in May.

Hearings are planned next week in San Diego, Riverside and Orange counties on the DFG plans to issue 350 permits for antlerless deer in the proposed Tenaja hunt. The area included in this hunt lies in all three counties, and the hunt period would coincide with the late deer season.

The Orange County hearing will be held Monday (April 26) at 7 p.m. in Courtroom 5, County Courthouse, 211 Santa Ana Blvd., in Santa Ana. The Riverside County hearing will be held the following night, Tuesday, at 7 p.m. in The Board of Supervisors Chambers, County Courthouse, 10th and Orange Streets in Riverside. Fish and Game Commissioner Timothy Doheny will preside at both hearings.

Newly appointed Commissioner Elizabeth Venrick will be presiding officer at the San Diego County hearing which will get under way at 7 p.m., Wednesday, April 28, in Room 358, County Administration Building, 1600 Pacific Coast Highway, San Diego.

In addition to considering the Tenaja hunt, a proposed San Diego archery either sex deer hunt and a special San Diego antlerless deer hunt will be reviewed.

Commissioner Doheny will preside over a hearing on two proposed special deer hunts in Los Angeles County. The hearing will take place in Room 1138, New State Building, 107 South Boardway, Los Angeles, beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 27.

Bass tourney set

EARP, Calif — More than 150 bass fishermen will be competing this weekend as Western Bass Fishing Association stages its second Lake Havasu Bass Tournament, out of Black Meadow Landing on the California side of the Colorado River impoundment.

Heading the list of entrants competing for more than $5000 in cash and prizes are Dee Thomas of Neward, Ca., Larry Hopper of Santa Ana, Ca., Fred Ward of Phoenix, Ariz., Mike Folkestad of Huntington Beach, Calif., and Bobby Sandberg of San Diego, Calif.

The $50 entry fee event will be staged on Saturday and Sunday, starting at sunrise. Weigh-in Saturday will be approximately 5 p.m., with a 1 p.m. weigh-in Sunday. All fish caught in Western Bass events are released after weighing; a 13-inch minimum length is also imposed.

Trout season opens

Despite a late season storm which brought snow to many areas of the high Sierra last week, the Department of Fish and Game reports most waters under 8500-9000 feet elevation will be open for fishing when trout season opens Saturday in Inyo and Mono counties.

Captain Ken Brown of Bishop, who made an aerial survey of higher elevation lakes and streams in a DFG aircraft, gave this report on some of the more popular areas:

"The road to Sabrina Lake and to nearby Parcher's Camp is open, and there is some ice-free water at the upper end of the lake.

"The road to North Lake is open and anglers will find a small ice-free area at the upper end of the lake.

"Rock Creek Lake is still frozen over, but the road to the lake should be passable by this weekend.

"Convict Lake is open and the road is clear.

"Mammoth Lakes are still frozen over, except for the twin lakes which have some open water. The road is open as far as the twin lakes.

"Lundy Lake is open and the water level is low. The road to the lake is open.

"Virginia Lake is still ice-covered, but the road may be passable to four-wheel-drive vehicles by the weekend.

"Lobell Lake is frozen and the road is closed.

"Bridgeport Reservoir and the twin lakes at Bridgeport are clear and roads there are open."

In addition to the high elevation waters, all roadside streams in Inyo and Mono counties where fishing is permitted will be stocked with catchable-size rainbows by opening day.

Crowley Lake again will be the major attraction for thousands of anglers who will reap the benefits of more than 900,000 trout stocked there by the DFG since the season closed last year. More than 500,000 of these were planted last August as subcatchable-size fish and have grown throughout the fall and winter months to their present size. Additional stocking of 385,000 fingerlings is expected to provide catchable size trout later in the season and into next year, the DFG says. Pre-season testing by DFG biologists indicate opening day catches should average 12 inches in length and weigh three-quarters of a pound.

To add special interest for anglers interested in catching larger fish, the DFG has stocked six tons of surplus broodstock from its Mt. Whitney and Hot Springs hatcheries in Inyo and Mono County waters. These fish, most of which weigh from three to five pounds, have been stocked in the Owens River downstream from Pleasant Valley Dam to Stewart Lane, Pleasant Valley Reservoir, Rock Creek Lake, Convict Lake, Twin Lakes at Mammoth, Mary, George and Mamie Lakes, Bridgeport Reservoir and the June Lake Loop lakes. Some of these waters were stocked with broodstock after the close of last season and others have been stocked in recent weeks.

In addition, catchable size brown trout will be stocked before Saturday in Upper and Lower Twin Lakes at Bridgeport and in Grant, Silver and Convict Lakes.

Trout plants

The following lakes and streams, listed by county, are scheduled for restocking this week with catchable-size rainbow trout from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries:

LOS ANGELES — Crystal Lake, Legg Lake, Puddingstone Reservoir, Pyramid Lake, San Gabriel River (East, West, and North Forks).

L.B. hosts Regatta

LONG BEACH — Unlimited outboard driver Ted May of Fountain Valley will be campaigning for his second consecutive Regatta of Champions victory at Long Beach Marine Stadium on Sunday, when boats from seven different classes compete in the only local "money race" of the year.

With a $12,000 purse at stake, the eighth annual Regatta has attracted 75 entrants racing in classes for unlimited outboards, blown fuel hydros, K runabouts, jet boats, cracker boxes, unblown gas and ski boats.

All five hydros ever to reach 200 miles an hour will also be in the Regatta as will several national champions and record holders in other classes.

Continuous racing begins at 12 noon and ends promptly at 5 p.m. Gates open at 8 a.m. to allow for the huge, early-arriving crowd expected. Overnight camping is permitted only for self-contained campers.

What I would give America . . .

By ANNA MARIE LOPEZ

America should receive the most deserving present anyone could give and for me to think of something great enough seems almost an impossible task. Our country has experienced many hardships, most of which have occurred in the past five decades. But with God's help, she has overcome all of them.

America could use many materialistic or concrete "things" but eventually they would fade away. However something abstract will not fade if it is sincerely presented. So for our country's birthday I am going to present America with awareness. Certainly people are aware of today's problems, but that is all that most people are concerned with. Such problems as discrimination, pollution, crime, poverty, governmental problems are current vital issues. As a result, some people feel our country is a nation full of chaos and this is not true. Of course, all of these problems are a reality but as I previously stated, America has always overcome her problems. I want to give America awareness to all Americans so all of us can accentuate the many positive virtues of our country and eliminate the few negative vices.

Americas need awareness of each other. People sometimes tend to forget that there are people besides themselves and often do things to benefit only their own personal selves.

George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Franklin Roosevelt, John F. Kennedy and President Ford all have one important thing in common. They were all presidents but they also possessed another bond. In some way or another they have contributed something essential to America, to her history and to her people. The point I am trying to make is that I want all Americans to be cognizant of their contributions.

Without these Americans our country might not hold the enviable position she does in the eyes of the rest of the world.

I know this is impossible to give to America but another thing I would like to present her with, would be the knowledge of many things that are now a mystery. Think of being able to cure people who are presently sentenced to a tragic death.

It would be great to discover a way to achieve peace, not only among other nations but also among ourselves. I think the greatest knowledge would be to be able to differentiate right and wrong. Can you imagine all people rationalizing all wrongs and as a result, refraining from the action. This would prevent all forms of crime and punishment, war and death.

Awareness of the good qualities, awareness of great contributors, and most important awareness of the individual rights of all men. Knowledge of peace-making, knowledge of disease-curing, and knowledge of right and wrong, all of this is a dream but it might become a reality if some effort were put into it. May the unity we have, grow into a better understanding and eventually complete understanding.

I hope America has many more birthdays as a democratic country, and I hope that each future birthday celebration will make all Americans more aware of her greatness.

My birthday gift

By OTTO BIASIO

The celebration of the 200th birthday of my country is a very important event for me. My parents just became part of this country and I feel I have just become part of this country too.

This is probably what I would give to my country — a pledge to become an honest and industrious citizen who respects the law and the great Constitution of the United States. In doing this I would try to bring new hope, wisdom and respect.

I would give it hope so that all the bad people that commit the killings, muggings, and robberies would stop. I would give my country wisdom so that people would be smart enough to live in happiness, not hatred, and stop going to war. War is one of the most horrible things in the world. Wars endanger the lives of all people.

Most of all however I would like to give America respect. Respect isn't just obeying rules, respect is being loyal to friends, classmates, families and teachers. Respect is being kind to people. Respect is obeying teachers, policeman, older people, neighbors and parents. If I could, this is what I would give America on its 200th birthday. I feel America needs these things and many more.

By PAUL SALVERDE

First, I would give her a new Attitude. The attitude of people today needs to be lifted. Members of society do not care enough about others. Many react by stealing, killing, and raping because they feel that the "establishment" cheated them. Many of the people that do these things feel justified. They feel that they have every right to do as they please. They wonder why, when they are caught, they are sent to jail. If everyone were to look after the other guy and keep the laws that were set up to protect us and keep us from having clashes with our fellow man, then America could have a lower crime rate, fewer traffic accidents, and less selfishness. That is the new attitude I would give America.

Second, I would give her a new Morality. So many today are immoral. They treat sex as if it were a public subject. This shows up in the movies and books made and written today. Movies rated "X" may affect people's moral values. This can lead to breakdowns in the family structure which is important to America. The flaws in the rating system for movies can result in teenagers seeing movies representing negative values. A new morality might abolish these problems.

Third, I would give her Energy. The shortage of oil and other fuels is not our major energy problem. The problem is in some of the decisions of great importance and the speed in which they are made. My view of the "Energy Shortage" is that there is plenty of oil, but that it is being withheld. If it could be made available, if people would try to conserve energy, and the decisions made by everyone were made quickly and correctly, then America would be a better place.

Fourth, I would give America Respect. Two of the dictionary meanings are: "To regard as not to be violated, avoid intruding upon," and, "To have relation or reference to, concern." Respect would clear up many problems. There is respect for elders, respect for the law, respect for authority, and most important, respect for other peoples' rights. Even though I think it is most important, I don't think it should go too far. Some people think this should be respect for whatever anyone else wants. If this were true no one could live. Rights are not taken, they are given. They can also be earned. The law gives you rights and you must respect them. In addition America needs to develop a new self-respect as a nation under God with even more potential for greatness among the nations.

Fifth, I would give her Industry. America needs to be hard at work. The harder the worker applies himself to getting the job done, the faster it is completed. If everyone would apply themselves in this way, America could return to the greatness of two hundred years ago. Also if the workers of America were trained in their jobs, those jobs would be done more efficiently and effectively.

Sixth, I would give her Courage . . . Courage to get out of a rut and start over again; Courage to leave some things behind and not follow the rest of the world into Communism, Socialism or total destruction; Courage to renew the death penalty for those that deserve it; Courage to be progressive and not sit down and twiddle thumbs and not do a thing to keep the economy up — morality up — energy up — and attitude right. America needs the courage to offend someone once in a while instead of being a yes man to an overinflated, egotistical society or person. That would build up America in many people's eyes.

Seventh and last, I would give America Action. What we believe determines how we act. If what we believe is wrong we are headed in the opposite direction from where we have the potential of going. If America, Congress, and the President faced the problem head on and took action, we could grow to heights never before reached. Once these seven things are started, they must keep right on going. But the first step is always the hardest.

Here are the seven things I would give America for its 200th birthday. I would give them out of love and respect for this nation's heritage and forefathers.

Huge crowds expected in the capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the biggest throngs ever to crowd onto the National Mall, a million persons by one official estimate, is expected for the 200th birthday of the Republic on July 4.

If many stay over the weekend, they will crowd the capital's accommodations and eating places to capacity or beyond.

The Washington Hotel Association estimates there are about 30,000 rooms in the metropolitan area. A spokesman said some hotels already are solidly booked for the July 4 weekend, but says there are plenty of rooms left.

A handful of official events is scheduled, along with a number of private and civic events. Others are being discussed.

One uncertainty is where President Ford will be. Sponsors of ceremonies in half a dozen cities across the country have said they expect him.

The White House will say only that Ford has accepted an invitation to be at Independence Hall in Philadelphia on the morning of July 4, a Sunday, and that he is considering other bids.

Director Michael Collins, the former astronaut, has invited the President to the official opening of the new National Air and Space Museum on the same day, but has had no response.

That museum, a branch of the Smithsonian Institution, plans a series of invitational galas July 1-3, and would like to open to the public on July 4.

A huge $40-million structure on the Mall, the museum promises to be one of the city's most popular tourist attractions. It opened its lobby to the public several months ago and has drawn up to 8,500 visitors on some days.

The building will display early gliders and balloons through the Wright Brothers' plane and Charles Lindbergh's "The Spirit of St. Louis" to the latest space hardware. The structure is three blocks long and a block wide, and the equivalent of six stories tall, large enough to show huge rockets.

Not far away, extending from the Capitol building down onto the Mall, the antiestablishment People's Bicentennial Commission has received a federal permit for a July 4th rally of up to 250,000 persons, which would be one of the biggest in the city's history.

Jeremy Rifkin, former antiwar activist who is codirector of the commission, says he doesn't know how many will show up. But he notes that when his group staged previous rallies in Boston and Concord, Mass., the turnouts matched early estimates.

The commission advocates an economic revolution, attacking crime and corruption in corporate suites, monopolistic power, industrial pollution, price fixing, big business influence over government policies and the like.

Rifkin said in an interview that the rally, to be addressed by prominent critics of corporate conglomerates and representatives of the labor movement, will be peaceful.

At the other end of the Mall, around the reflecting pool in front of the Lincoln Memorial, will be the Smithsonian's 10th annual festival of American Folklife, scheduled to run all summer on a 50-acre site.

The Smithsonian estimates that 17 million persons will visit the festival. The largest crowd ever reported on a July 4 holiday has been about 125,000.

For the holiday, officials are planning a full program of gospel singing by black and white participants from among the 5,000 who will take part in the summer-long festival.

At Union Station, a few blocks from the Capitol, the National Park Service is planning to open a visitors' information and orientation center. Another such center for bicentennial visitors in the Commerce Department will open next week.

There has been some question whether the Union Station facility would be ready by July 4, but officials say the date is now firm, barring strikes or other unforeseen difficulties.

NO MORE PLUG UGLIES — The city of Fort Worth, Tex., decided to give fireplugs around town a facelift, so with some paint and imagination they transformed the drab plugs into Revolutionary War soldier designs wth red, white and blue uniforms.

Pony Express ride re-enacted

RENO, Nev. (AP) - Through the baking, 90-degree heat of the Central Nevada salt flat, the fast-riding horseman's dust is visible a mile away to his impatiently waiting sidekick.

Leaning low in the saddle, a hankerchief tied across his sunburned face to ward off the choking heat and dirt, the buck-skin-clad rider gallops on with his important load.

In a satchel hanging securely from the saddle horn in front of him, the U. S. Mail bobs against the side of the sweating horse.

With a final showy sprint, the rider and horse storm up to the waiting compadre, halting in a clatter of hooves and a torrent of brown dust.

The rider leaps off and flings the pouch over the saddle of the now-mounted cowboy, who spurs his horse west across the Nevada rangeland.

In an instant the first horseman is alone, his journey completed. He waves to the fast-vanishing courier, who is intent on the trail ahead of him and does not see the gesture.

The Pony Express rides again!

The scene from the 1860s will be revived this summer when some 15 riders carry the mail over a 120 mile route between Austin and Carson City July 1-15.

The brainchild of Jim and Marlys Andersen, operators of the Stagecoach Inn at Austin, the project is fast clearing the few remaining hurdles and red tape. Still needed, Andersen says, is clearance from the Bureau of Land Management, which controls some of the land the riders will cross. Approval is expected to be a formality.

Andersen, 32, gained a brief measure of fame in 1974 when he hiked from the top of Mt. Whitney, the highest spot in continental U. S. to Death Valley, the lowest point.

Itching for another challenge, Andersen first considered a walk from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Calif., following the old Pony Express trail all the way. His wife vetoed the idea.

"She thought it was kind of silly," Andersen said, "and so she came up wih the idea of a Pony Express run from Austin to Carson, following the old trail as much as we could."

The first 50 miles will parallel U. S. 50, giving motorists a chance to see the old Pony Express in action. The balance of the trip will be cross-country.

The plan is to leave Austin with the mail in the morning and arrive in Carson City the next day about noon. Riders will then reverse the trip, riding from the state capital to Austin.

Unlike their 19th century counterparts, the riders won't travel at night. Too many modern obstacles, says Andersen, such as fences and heavily traveled highways.

The riders, most of them members of the Ox Trail Riders, headquartered near Reno, will each carry the mail for 10 or 20 miles. One horseman has volunteered for a challenging 50 mile ride.

"We're going to try to make it as authentic as possible," Andersen said. "We'll have stations about every 10 miles, including seven or eight of the original Pony Express stops."

Each rider will carry up to 20 pounds of mail. Letters are being limited to a half ounce each and Andersen will charge $7.50 a letter, higher than the $5 charge of 1860.

"The riders are going to be paid by the mile," Andersen said, "and we'll need about 4,000 letters to break even. We've set a limit of 6,000 letters because that's all we can physicially carry, but we might try to extend the run if we get a big response.

"The mail will be carried in modified saddle bags and the letters will have authentic Pony Express stamps," Andersen said. "The postal service said we could not actually carry first class mail with a stamp on it."

When the letters reach the end of the ride, they will be taken to the post office and mailed for delivery by the government, Andersen explained.

In 1960, to mark the centennial of the original Pony Express, riders carried mail across the full-length of the original run. Anderson says he isn't aware of any similar efforts this year.

"I haven't heard of any and I'm not really sure it could be done again," he said. "There have been a lot of fences put up between 1960 and now."

Anderson says a lot of obstacles have surfaced since the idea first occurred to him, mainly because of Bureau of Land Management efforts to protect the land.

He said he will give the agency a detailed map of the route shortly and that BLM officials will then conduct what they call a "low intensity environmental analysis" to determine the impact of the ride on federal lands.

"Because its part of the bicentennial, we don't expect any problems," said BLM spokesman Terry Reed. "The impact is fairly small and of short duration."

Anderson will be required to pay a $10 filing fee for a recreational use permit and will have to take out about $300,000 in liability insurance, Reed said.

"It's sort of a commercial event, but the bureau has no fee structure for this type of thing," Reed added. "The cost of the permit will be either nominal or none."

Andersen has invited President Ford to send the first letter and is hoping Nevada Gov. Mike O'Callaghan will take part in some manner.

While authenticity will be strived for, Andersen says he has drawn the line at Indian attacks. "We were afraid they might get too serious," he laughed.

Pennsylvania town builds UFO pad

LAKE CITY, Pa. (AP) — On July 4, this northwestern Pennsylvania town will throw the switch on one of the more unusual Bicentennial projects — a landing site for flying saucers.

The 2,300 residents of Lake City, near Lake Erie's southern shore, apparently are taking the idea seriously. They are voluntarily contributing $6,000 to build the "UFO port." No tax money is involved.

Why a UFO site?

"Because we wanted to do something different," Meeder says. "Everyone else is looking back 200 years and restoring buildings and writing books. We wanted to look in the other direction — to the future."

The UFO idea wasn't just pulled out of the sky, so to speak. There have been several reported UFO sitings over Lake City, a suburb of the City of Erie, and some folks here figure the area has something that attracts them.

"Nobody knows for sure what was out there," Meeder says. "But we thought if they actually were UFOs, we might as well give them a place to land."

Not having the exact dimensions of other world flying machines, Meeder and his crew are guessing at how to build the landing facility. Plans call for a circular pad, 100 feet in diameter, to be built on a secluded, one-acre site near Lake Erie, which Meeder donated. The pad will be surrounded by three rings of lights — in red, white and blue.

An existing building will be outfitted with a radio antenna and a secondhand radar scope for use as a control center.

J. K. Morrison, information coordinator at the Bicentennial Administration in Washington, says Lake City's project is one of the most offbeat of the 30,000 projects that have come across his desk.

"Everything these days has a Bicentennial label of some type, but that one is unique," he said. Approval by Morrison's administration means the UFO project will be listed in the Bicentennial's publications and master calendar.

The UFO port is fast becoming the community's symbol.

Third-graders' views of George Washington

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — Here in the nation's heartland, any school kid worth his pencil box can tell you why we call George Washington the father of our country.

It's elementary to third-grader Lisa Lynforth, for example.

"Gorg Washinting (sic) is our father because he made laws and rules," she said. "He almost made the world.... He had a very happy life, probably the best."

Miss Lynforth, along with all the other third-graders in Centralia, was asked to prepare a written answer, with no coaching from the teacher, to this seminal question in American history. A sampling of the unedited answers, poor spelling and all:

Mary Lynn Bowlby: "George Washington was the father of our country be cose he was the first man to be our father of the country and he died and men found his body and put his face on a stone."

But Sandra McPhail, a pupil at Washington School, thinks there is life in old George yet, "He is the Prisadent of our country. And many other countryes. I think that he is the Prisadent of the hole stat."

A girl who signed her paper Alicia, avoided the question of Washington's longevity and offered this observation, "Because his birthday was the first."

Terry Harris, a classmate of Miss McPhail, takes an omnipotent view of Washington, "Because he loves us. And we love him. And he knows everything."

Rather more practical is Tina Lynn Zacheis, "Because he is the first man who wanted to be. I like him because he is nice. And he is on the one doller."

David Justice is in basic agreement, but returns to the religious theme, "Because he was a cheif of an army troop and he went all over the world.... Then in Mont Verton, George put his hand on the pibull, said, other all-day rally at which it hopes 1,500 persons will show up to champion the cause of white supremacy. The National Socialist Workers Party, as it is formally called, has reserved the northeast corner of Lafayette Park on Saturday, July 3.

The estimate of a million visitors on July 4 comes from the Park Service, although everyone concerned concedes that it is difficult to estimate how many people will come and how long they will stay.

By comparison, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s march on Washington in August 1963 attracted an estimated 200,000. The antiwar Mayday demonstrations of 1971 which continued for weeks, brought crowds which police estimated at 200,000 and which sponsors put at 500,000.

There will be a July 4th sunrise service at the Lincoln Memorial, sponsored by the downtown Cluster of Churches, an interdenominational group of faiths with houses of worship in the center of the city.

A coalition of business and civic groups called Happy Birthday USA, is planning a parade on July 3 and a ceremony at the Lincoln Memorial on the evening of July 4.

A spokesman says Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and perhaps the President will be at the memorial, but the group has not yet been granted a permit for either event.

Happy Birthday says it is committed to, and has the money to pay for, the most extensive fireworks display ever seen in the capital where the July 4 demonstration is an annual, well-populated event.

The pyrotechnics are normally shot off near the base of the Washington Monument. Happy Birthday is discussing as many as four sites between the Capitol and the Lincoln Memorial.

An organization called the American Christian Heritage Foundation plans a holiday weekend display depicting the history of religion in the United States on the periphery of the Ellipse, one of the parks adjoining the White House.

I'll be the first presadentt."

Many boys, like Jeff Beadle, have heard of Washington's martial achievements. "Because he was the first president," Master Beadle wrote. "And because he won the rore."

Which "rore?"

"He was in the silver war," Kenneth Everett said. "He was a Ginirl in the silver war."

Kristy Monken doesn't care which war it was. "Aw man," she scribbled, "I'd rather be thinking about summer. Because he sailed around the world and found america."

Reminded, perhaps, of subsequent, lesser politicians, Jennifer Crain said, "Because he is the first president ...because he was better than a mayor, anything in politics."

And more than a few kids would like him to come back. Tricia Stonecipher penciled, "George Washeton was the first presdent I know of. He is a nice presdent.... He is a great full man for people and children. I love him a lot for the war. I wish he was here a gin today."

Rather wistfully, Shelia Jones reports, "We like him and he likes us. We wish George was a live. We miss him."

Randy Miller explains the affection, "George Washington married a widow named Martha. They spent their honey moon at the White house. He cared for his country just like he cared for his children."

Word apparently has not yet reached everyone that the father of our country never fathered any children. But the old cherry tree fable is widely known.

"George Washington is the father of our country," Patty Mason said, "because he told the truth to his father about the cherry tree."

JAPANESE STYLE — Hiroshi Honma of Japan's Liberty Bell Committee, a promotional campaign sponsored by the U.S. Department of Commerce, displays some of the goods the committee is using to promote American products in Japanese life.

'Revolution Rejected' exhibited in Canada

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — As Americans celebrate the 200th anniversary of the success of their revolution against the British, the Canadian War Museum is quietly marking the failure of that revolution in Canada.

The museum has opened an exhibit called Revolution Rejected 1775-76. It recounts the invasion of Quebec by American forces in the winter of 1775-76, a venture that came remarkably close to success.

What emerges from the display of artifacts, artillery and paintings is an account that may surprise both Canadians and Americans unfamiliar with this violent episode in Canadian-American relations.

The exhibit pictures Canadians as reluctant defenders of their homeland and American troops as undisciplined and lazy. On the other hand, King George III is seen in a favorable light.

The invasion of Canada was ordered by the Continental Congress of the American colonies on June 27, 1775.

A force led by Richard Montgomery, a renegade British officer, marched north up the Hudson River and, after defeating the British at St. Johns on the Richelieu River, captured Montreal in November 1775.

The British governor, Sir Guy Carleton, escaped the besieged city and arrived in Quebec City only to find a second American force led by Benedict Arnold preparing to lay siege to the fortress town.

Bernard Pothier, the War Museum curator, worked three years gathering pieces for the exhibit. He says Carleton had trouble rallying local support for the loyalist cause.

"You had it split down the middle with some people working for the revolution and some anxious to be left alone."

At the height of the siege, the British commandant, Allan Maclean, pictured the American forces as "vagabonds and highwaymen come to plunder and pillage," the exhibit notes.

Montgomery himself described his own men as undisciplined and lazy, "the worst stuff imaginable for soldiers."

There were supporters of the revolution in Canada, the most noted of whom was Thomas Walker, leader of a group of sympathizers in Montreal, whose portrait is on display.

In May 1775, a group of pro-revolutionaries toppled a statue of George III in Montreal's Place d'Armes, daubed it with black paint and draped a rosary of potatoes around its neck with the inscription, "Voila le Pape du Canada et le Sot Anglias" — Here is the Pope of Canada and the English Fool.

King George, regarded by many American historians as indecisive and mentally unstable, is pictured differently in the museum exhibit.

"George III was a skilled political tactician," the description reads. "He understood the play of forces in government and was able to exercise personal executive control over Parliament."

"His problem was that his cabinet was weak and indecisive," says Pothier.

WOODEN WATER MAIN — Jack Gasnick holds a 200-year-old wooden water main which has gone to Washington recently for use in a Bicentennial exhibition. The main, dug up outside historic Fraunces Tavern in New York in 1913, was for years on display in the Manhattan plumbing and hardware store operated by Gasnick and his brother, Walter.

Canada exhibit . . .

Morale was a problem at Quebec City, and only the untiring work of Maclean and the difficulties of a midwinter campaign enabled the defenders to repel Arnold's forces, says Pothier.

The final battle is graphically displayed in an eight-minute slide show describing the attack through period illustrations and maps with commentary by actors playing the major participants.

Other displays include a horse-drawn coach used by Gov. Carleton, which is in the midst of restoration, plus muskets, cannons and military colors. The pieces were assembled from museums and private collections in Canada, the United States and Europe.

In the spring of 1776, the Americans began to retreat and regrouped British forces forced them back across the border.

Pothier has strong feelings about the failure of the American revolution in Canada.

"This was a very free country," he said. "The French-Canadians had been given their language and had rights to their civil law.

"They would have had a great deal less liberty if they had become part of the American Congress. The United States went through 75 to 80 years of graft and corruption after the revolution before they got organized."

Pothier said he would like to see the exhibit travel in the United States later.

"It's a vantage point that Americans are not likely to see," he said.

America's rebels could not hope to challenge the strongest navy in the world, Great Britain. Single colonial warships were put into action and with the limited means available, the Americans did surprisingly well. They fought fiercely, captured British goods and drove up the British insurance rates, The World Almanac reveals.

New peanut stable found

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP) — Dr. Jack Mitchell Jr., a bio-chemist at Clemson University, has come up with a brand new peanut product which he believes could become a worldwide food staple.

Peanuts are ground into white mush, made into a milky mixture by adding water, cooked, dried into thin sheets and crumbled or ground into flakes or powder.

Mitchell says the product is highly nutritious, cholesterol free, has a long storage life and a remarkable ability to take on the flavor of other food.

Already tested recipes using the product as a basic ingredient range from candies and meats to scrambled eggs.

Diverse activities mark Bicentennial

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than one million Americans are involved with more than 26,000 activities planned as part of the nation's 200th birthday party, says John Warner, head of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

"What we are seeing is probably the largest outpouring of national spirit and effort for any nonwartime project in the nation's history," Warner said.

Most of the effort is grassroots citizen participation in such diverse projects as poetry writing contests, parades, revivals of Colonial Era plays and the like, the federal Bicentennial coordinator said.

"But there are two clouds over the Bicentennial. Neither should be considered serious and both are due at least in part to misunderstandings," he added.

"Minorities complain that they have nothing much to celebrate, and there is growing concern that the observance of our 200th year is somehow being turned into a 'Buy-centennial sell-ebration.'"

Warner said the most vocal minority groups are blacks and American Indians who complain that their places on the social and economic ladders give them little to cheer about. Some argue that the Bicentennial is shaping up as an orgy of self-congratulation by the establishment and white majority.

"The Bicentennial is much more than a time to praise the men and deeds of the establishment," Warner pointed out. "It is also a time to focus on the unique contributions of the minorities to the American heritage and a time to consider the unfulfilled aspirations of some of our people. It is a time to look ahead, to profit from the mistakes made in the past and to work to improve the quality of life of all Americans."

Washington has helped sponsor, usually with matching funds, local Bicentennial projects that involve minority heritages, he said. There are programs involving some 50 Indian tribes; major projects include construction of museums to display the artifacts of the original Americans, not just for the Bicentennial but for future generations of Americans.

Not all such programs are for view only in the United States. A major exhibition, "2,000 Years Of American Indian Art" opens at the Hayward Gallery in London late in 1976.

On the commercialism issue Warner notes that in a time of tightly pinched budgets, Congress directed that the Bicentennial Administration finance local projects not with tax revenues, but with royalties from the sale of officially sanctioned souvenirs. Some 1,500 companies have been licensed to produce mementos, all of them meeting tight ARBA standards and approved by a three-man, independent design panel. They carry the double-star red official symbol.

But these are only a small part of what is on the market. "The word Bicentennial doesn't belong to the government or anyone else," Warner said. "Anyone who

Where have Liberty Bells all 'gong'?

By CHRIS ROBERTS
Associated Press Writer

Full-scale replicas of the Liberty Bell, presented to each state in 1950 to promote a U.S. Savings Bond drive, are clanging, as best they can, for a new cause — America's 200th birthday.

Over the years, the bells had been forgotten. Some were misplaced.

Now, with the country celebrating the Bicentennial, they are being liberated from warehouses and state house basements across the land and used again, although some of the 25-year-old replicas have not held up as well as their great-great-great-granddaddy in Philadelphia.

Oregonians last July 4 rang their bell with a hammer. The clapper, stowed in a storeroom some years back by a forgetful soul, couldn't be located.

Today, the clapper is back in place. And this year on the Fourth, Oregon's bell-ringing will be more traditional.

Georgia's bell has languished on a concrete slab in a back corner of the state capitol since 1950, but there's a move afoot to hoist it to a park across the street in time for July 4.

The restoration is part of a national campaign by the American Bell Association, people interested in rescuing bells in distress. The gong lovers hope to marshal the replicas for a five-minute unison chiming on Independence Day.

Not only were some of the bells misplaced over the years (South Carolina's was found last summer in the tunnels of the state house), but some were appropriated.

Illinois officials began a search for their bell after overhearing the brass from other states discussing the

We the people

The role of the 'Ms.' in the colonial days

(Third in a Series)

Colonial women defied generalization. They were neither fashion plates nor queen bees. They proved a testy lot, durable as rawhide, serving with their toughminded, tabasco-tongued men in a violent and primitive land.

Mobs were not uncommon in the city, and like as not they were mobs of women. Some stripped and tarred offensive members of the community. The women of Schoharie County, N.Y., for instance, made manifest their indignation at being served eviction notices by the local sheriff by dragging him through the street, riding him on a rail and sending him home with two broken ribs and one remaining eye.

The same spirit, directed toward worthy ends, made for remarkable testimonials to the business acumen and accomplishments of colonial women. Eliza Pinckney, daughter of a British army officer, founded the multimillion dollar indigo dye industry of South Carolina. Mrs. Martha Smith carried on in her husband's stead as the master of a testy, leathernecked lot of Long Island whalers.

Likewise, the irrepressible Mrs. Sueton Grant of Newport, R.I., became a merchant princess in command of a sizeable fleet of ships left to her by her husband. The very liberated Mrs. Grant was a tough and determined adversary. She believed in standing up to her rights in court — literally. Once, convinced that her counsel was bungling her law case, she rose to press the fight herself, secured her verdict and probably became the first woman to practice law in any English-speaking country.

Colonial women were by no means barred from commerical pursuits. Opportunities were as varied as imagination, and America's women did not lack for imagination.

They did anything that came to mind. In New York, for instance, widows were accustomed to opening saloons; and New York State looked upon the grant of a tavern license to a widow as a modest form of social security. In nearby Bordentown, N.J., the redoubtable Patience Lovell Wright, widowed with three small children, turned to her longstanding hobby of molding effigies in clay and wax, and she prospered at this unique endeavor. By 1771, Mrs. Wright had an extremely successful New York showing a La Madame Tussaud.

America was already a nation of individuals. While some families taught their daughters the niceties of etiquette and the simple pleasures of needle wisdom, others — even families of quality — raised young ladies who smoked pipes, drank in an age of ferocious drinkers, and swore in a time when an oath was an oath and a curse could get you kicked out of town.

And colonial women did not hesitate to fight alongside their men when the Revolution changed from an idea in the minds of the people to a reality on a battlefield.

Wives followed husbands into the field of war. Much more than camp followers, they proved to be smoke eaters involved in the thick of battle. One is reminded of the leather-tough women of Schoharie County when one reads this eyewitness account of a tobacco-smoking, plug-chewing, oath-swearing soldier Mrs. Ludwig Hayes.

"A woman whose husband belonged to the artillery and who was then attached to a piece in the engagement, attended with her husband at the piece the whole time.

Filled with the new ideas of independence and equality, women helped to build this nation as surely as did the men. Although feminism was not a household word in Revolutionary America, as it is today, equal opportunity was a reality that many Colonial women enjoyed.

Where have the Liberty Bells 'gong'? . . .

"We began asking around and finally got a tip from someone that it was out at the fire station" at the fairgrounds north of Springfield, explains Norbert Johnson, the man charged with the bell's restoration.

Last spring, Illinois Secretary of State Michael Howlett had the bell placed on a flatbed trailer. Since July 31 it's traveled more than 10,000 miles to 150 Illinois communities to be viewed at schools, shopping centers and town squares to kindle Bicentennial spirit.

Other states also are taking their bells to meet the people. Nebraska's bell, hitched to a National Guard truck, is expected to have visited 300 communities by year's end. Kentucky's was retrieved from a warehouse last year and likewise put on tour until year's end.

Unlike the real McCoy, the replicas are not cracked. Cast in Annecy, France, at a cost of approximately $2,200 each, they weigh about 2,000 pounds apiece. The U.S. Treasury Department presented the bells to each state for the U.S. Savings Bond Independence Day Drive in 1950, but did not pay for them. Six copper companies did.

The real bell, also weighing about 2,000 pounds, is now housed in a modern viewing pavilion across from Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

It hasn't rung since 1846, when its famous crack grew while the bell was peeling on George Washington's birthday. A powerful clap 11 years earlier at the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall first split the shell.

The replica bells were built to toll and in some states have been tolling for years.

"If there's a reason for it we let anybody ring it," says Floyd Williams, a state buildings official in Arizona. "It almost knocks the dome off the capitol."

Missouri, perhaps, has had the biggest flap over a replica bell, and that fuss concerned the bell's dedication at a new location.

The bell sat in a corner of the capitol in Jefferson City until 1966. That fall it was moved outside to a brass and red pagoda-like structure overlooking the Missouri River.

Many citizens felt the bell's new home was in appalling contrast to the nearby white stone capitol, prompting a Kansas City newspaper to observe, "The dedication of the Liberty Bell reminded viewers of their freedom to disagree."

Although there were only 48 states when the replicas were delivered, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Hawaii and Alaska also got bells. So did the District of Columbia.

Hawaii's probably has logged more miles than the rest.

After reception on July 4, 1950, it was taken by ship to each of the Hawaiian islands for display in public schools.

In 1956, the bell was shipped to the West Coast for a ceremonial journey to Washington. Along the way it was "rung for liberty" to promote Hawaii's desire for statehood, realized three years later.

After the trip to the nation's capital, 5,000 miles away, the bell was returned to Honolulu and put on display in the state office building. Last fall, it was moved to a courtyard in front of the federal building in downtown Honolulu.

Some of the bells have needed repair or have been defaced over the years.

Several yokes rotted away and had to be replaced. Kansas' bell bears signatures, carved on the bell's interior by visitors. In Utah, placard-happy protesters occasionally find the bell a convenient place to advertise a cause.

It rests in a Bicentennial garden at the state fairgrounds in Albuquerque, surrounded by straw flowers, black-eyed Susans, and 48 other plant varieties that were popular 200 years ago.

Pennsylvania has two Liberty Bells, the real one and the 1950 replica, which is on display at a church in Allentown.

The real one also spent some time in the church. It was during the Revolutionary War. It was hidden there after it became obvious that Redcoats invading Philadelphia would melt down the bell for cannon balls.

Preserving adobe ruins

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State University researchers are trying to perfect a process called electro-osmosis to help preserve adobe structures.

Their primary concern is treating ruins that have not yet been excavated. The treatment does not change the appearance of the structures.

In a project funded by the National Park Service and directed by Dr. Charles O'Bannon, ASU associate professor of civil engineering, two graduate students are working on a chemical which, when driven into adobe walls, will stabilize clay into a permanent material.

wants to manufacture mementos is free to do so, and thousands of such items are appearing on counters and shelves. A lot of it is shoddy, and I doubt consumers will pick up much of the worst items. But the same laws that guarantee Americans free speech also guarantee freedom of taste and a marketplace largely unregulated except for such things as product safety and deceptive advertising.

"But the Bicentennial celebration is too big to be tarnished, much less pulled down, by such a small facet of the observance as souvenirs," Warner added. "Americans always have bought souvenirs in great quantities and they most probably always will. But they buy them not for the souvenirs alone, but for what they represent. In our case, it will be a national milestone of truly stupendous proportions."
